HORSE AMBULANCES

Not long ago, in reporting the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, we carried a notice that arrangements had been made with a well-known trailer company to provide ambulance service for horses during the procession. Perhaps the most striking feature of the ceremonies was the advance provision made for every detail, no matter how minute. Unquestionably it was this provision which made them such a complete success, in spite of the showers by which nature plotted to upset the well-laid plans of men.

Fortunately everything had been so well prepared—horses shod for slippery pavements, driven many times over the route beforehand, and carefully conditioned against noise and crowds, and equipment in perfect order—that no ambulance service was needed. Had it not been provided, however, the Fates would undoubtedly have visited misfortune upon the procession and made it necessary.

In this country, at far too many of our horse events, the Fates are thus tempted. Except for our major race tracks, most of which make fully adequate provision for such emergencies, there is far too little done in the way of providing ambulance service for injured horses. Many of our subscribers will remember unfortunate accidents to horses at race meetings, point-to-points, horse shows, hunter trials and polo games where there was either no horse ambulance service at all or where what was provided proved to be inadequate. This situation has and still does exist at many of the largest and most important events of their kind and at most of the smaller events.

Because of this situation and because it has therefore been often necessary to make a hurried decision, and many a good horse has been destroyed, which might have been saved if he could have been removed in a horse ambulance, examined more carefully and treated over a period of time. The destruction of a horse on the course or in the ring is a harrowing spectacle which is not only hard on its connections, but gives the sport a bad name with the public.

What can we do to remedy this situation? Some of the larger meetings and shows are in a position to purchase an ambulance or a suitable trailer. For organizations not rich enough to do so there is the opportunity to buy in partnership with others. There are associations which might buy equipment for the use of its members, horse shows associations, state horsemen's associations, polo associations and the like.

If purchase is impracticable it may be possible to rent ambulances. Some of our veterinary schools, such as the University of Pennsylvania, have horse ambulances which can be rented. A group of veterinarians might be able to buy an ambulance jointly, which could be used for their private practice and also rented for use at various horse events. A private vanning concern might find it profitable to add an ambulance to its fleet of "horse pullmans".

In some localities the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (A.S.P.C.A.) might be able to supply an ambulance. Where valuable animals, covered by insurance, were being shown, the insurance companies might feel that providing an ambulance in case of accident would be sound practice. The United Hunts, which has done so much for hunt race meetings by providing insurance for riders, might also be interested in this measure of protection as well.

Letters from our readers as to what is being done at the present time and as to what might be done in future would undoubtedly help towards a solution of the problem and would be most welcome.

Letters To The Editor

Foxhunter's Viewpoint

Dear Sir:

I was very sorry to read in your column "Horse Shows" that the hunt cap has finally fallen into the show ranks. However, I suppose it is all under the heading of progress.

Just to keep the pot stirred up, I think you will be amused to hear that while sitting on the sidelines at the Greenwich Show, no less than seven hunt caps were picked up off the ground in the ring and four on the outside course, all in a matter of hours; which all goes to prove that any hat of any design will fall off a head when it is not placed on the head properly.

So much for my small voice in the matter. As a die hard of the first degree, you will probably be kept informed on this subject for years to come!

Sincerely,

Migi Serrell.

Irish Notes

Dear Sir:

Please allow me to congratulate you on the new column started in your Friday, June 19th issue, entitled "Notes from Ireland with Horses and Hounds and People".

I hunted in Ireland during the season of '39 with six different packs, and you have no idea how interesting it was for me to read about old friends who are still going strong and young friends who are now Masters and Co-Masters.

I hope that this is only the beginning of monthly reports from the Emerald Isle.

Very sincerely yours,

Georgie W. Rathborne

Monmouth Park

Monmouth Park's Colleen Stakes holds a unique record. It has missed 52 renewals. No other American turf fixture can make this claim.

Inaugurated at old Monmouth Park in 1887, it was contested for each season up to 1893 and then went underground. In 1946, Horace Wade exhumed it, spawned a revitalizing press release and presented it at the new Monmouth Park. It is a pity that Horace himself is not to renew as publicity director of the Long Branch course; he might find a few Colleens to fill in the gap, as Dave Woods used to do with Preaknesses. It mattered not that the race was not staged at Pimlico; if it bore the name Preakness, Woods staked a claim and vice versa. Just think how many Derbys Brownie Leach (Churchill Downs' boy) could get that way.

It has been 66 years since Belinda won the inaugural. In only 16 of them have Colleens been staged, but 18 races have been run, as in 1949 and '53 large fields necessitated splitting the race. Even at two a year, though, it is going to take a long time to catch up.

Incidentally (which sounds more like changing the subject than the name of a Thoroughbred) connected in the first and faster half of this year's running. She had suffered her first loss five days previously when she went wide on the turn at Aqueduct. Everybody blamed the sharp curves, but the gray filly was bothered with the bends again at Monmouth. Fortunately for the favorite players and Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham, Sam Boulmetis got the daughter of Mr. Busher—Danise M., by Epinard, back in line and saved the prize.

The race gave the two-year-old filly five wins in six starts and brought her earnings to $43,950. She cost Maine Chance Farm $10,000 in the Keeneland Yearling Sales of last season.

Lady Bouncer, winner of the last half of the Colleen, also was a Keeneland Sales purchase, having cost William G. Helis, Jr. $12,000. Out of Bum's Rush, the filly is well-enough named to be in Vanderbilt or Whitney silks. Her sire is Roman.

In winning the Colleen, she made her record show two victories in two starts, and $19,850 in earnings. Her time, 1:07 2/5, was just one second slower than Incidentally's.

The sixth running of Monmouth Park's Select Handicap, for three-year-olds, drew enough horses to make up two paces. Alfred Vanderbilt's Beachcomber appeared so solid in the first division that the customers made him the odds-on choice at 2 to 5. He justified their confidence when Eric Guerin was lucky enough to find an opening where there didn't seem to be any. The son of Polynesian—Appian Way, by Roman got through and beat Sweet Apple by half a length, with Caesar Did third.

Ram o' War, which finished fourth to Native Dancer in the Preakness and Belmont, earned the same finish position behind Beachcomber. In the Select, however, he closed with a rush, which is more than he did in the two big ones.

Beachcomber, a home-bred chestnut gelding, did not race at two. He began his career on April 25, this year, in a maiden race at Jamaica, and showed so little interest in what was going on that Guerin pulled him up. The next time out, in mid-May, Guerin or Trainer Bill Winfrey had found the right prescription, for Beachcomber registered by ten lengths, and has been winning ever since, the Select being his fifth straight score, and first stakes success. In winning five of his six starts he has earned $28,650.

Just Sidney's winning percentage isn't as good as Beachcomber's, but his race in the Select was better. He traveled the six-furlong distance in 1:11 2/5, a full second more rapidly than the winner of the first division, and he led all the way. As in the case of Beachcomber, the Select provided his first victory in an added-money event.

By the fleet Deliberator, out of Lia, by Jock, Just Sidney was bred by E. H. T. Hay and sold at Keeneland in 1951 for $1,100. W. H. Foales put up the money and is trainer as well as owner of the bay colt.

In 18 starts in two seasons, Just Sidney has won 7 races, been second 3 times and third 3 times. His bank account totals $37,150.

Flirtatious, winner of the Polly Drummond and Spinaway Stakes last season, got second money in the Second Division of the Select and Skipper Bill finished third.

Aqueduct

Twenty or thirty years from now, when old Alfred Vanderbilt is erecting a marble shaft over the grave of Native Dancer, the inscription probably will read, "He taught them fear."

Even though he wins, he always manages to scare the daylight's out of the sweating thousands who strive so hard to achieve minus pools, as well as those who are out of pocket when this end is accomplished. They still shudder at Pimlico when they think of that $46,000 he drained from them.

The Dwyer, in pattern, was like enough of Native Dancer's other races to be called "typical". He took the lead when he and/or Jockey Eric Guerin decided it was time, but just as the spectators were murmuring, "Now he'll draw out," he didn't.

Guerin said the gray enjoyed his easiest race and added that "he just wanted to play." The players who had tossed in $141,338 and hoped he would win by 100 lengths (like Man o'War did in the Lawrence) were asking one another, "Is that fun?"

In 1953, previous to the Dwyer, Native Dancer had caused the tracks to pay out $77,034 more than they took in, so the Aqueduct people wouldn't book place and show money. Even with this precaution, they'll have to slash $3,332 from payments to widows and orphans who own stock in the enterprise.

When it is said that Landlocked won a division of the Sapling Stakes at Monmouth last year, the stakes records of Native Dancer's Dwyer rivals have been covered.

The Dwyer money brought the son of Polynesian—Geisha, by Discovery, up to $560,845 in earnings, and placed him sixth among the top money winners. He is $131 behind Whirlaway, which, but eleven years ago, managed the fantastic feat of accumulating more than half a million.

Case Goods had to be much the best to get first prize in Aqueduct's Astoria Stakes, not to be confused with the Astarita, at the same course. One is named for a town and the other for the winner of the first Astoria, in 1902. Both races are for two-year-old fillies. Have you got it straight, or shall we go over it again?

Anyway, in the 1953 running, June 29, Case Goods had the event sewed up and then bore out, giving away several lengths. Hedley Woodhouse straightened her promptly and got back in front, winning by 2 1/4 lengths.

It was the filly's second win in three starts. She had taken a maiden race late in May and missed by a nose in an allowance test on June 12.

Alfred Vanderbilt's When In Rome was second in the Astoria, and Fancy Diver, owned by Woodvale Farm, was third. Maine Chance Farm's previously undefeated Incidentally, which had won the Rancocas at Garden State and the Polly Drummond at Delaware, was not a factor in the running. She drifted out on the bend and lost all chance.

Case Goods was bred by the Estate of K. N. Gilpin and purchased by William Goadby Loew at Saratoga last fall for $15,500. The chestnut filly, by Case Ace—Damaged Goods, by Jacopo, performs in Mr. Loew's silks. The $9,225 she earned in the Astoria brought her earnings to $12,825.

Five of the nine male two-year-olds in the Tremont Stakes (July 1) had been victorious last time out and two of them showed stakes wins. Wheatley Stable's Quick Lunch, had finished fifth, sixth and third in his last three engagements, but "was training well". It must have been the training that did it; he won by 2½ lengths and might have had a little something left at the end. His stablemate, Full Flight, got third money, and Brae Burn Farm's War Piper split the two.

Quick Lunch, a chestnut colt by Blenheim II—Picnic Lunch, by Requested, jumped into the lead shortly after the break and maintained a safe margin over his rivals all the way. The two stakes winners, Catspaw (the Juvenile) and Oclirock (Bay State Kindergarten) battled it out for last place most of the and Devilkin. The last named finished second and My Celeste came grinding along in the late stages to get third money.

Grecian Queen received $84,600 for her part of the pot, which brought her season's earnings to $178,175, and her career total to $259,025.

Arlington

A full sister to Two Lea, bred and owned by Calumet Farm and trained by Ben Jones, could attract plenty of betting money without past performances. With one race and one victory, even though it was in an event for maidens, Miz Clementine came up the hottest kind of a thing for Arlington Park's Pollyanna Stakes. And she won it, too, just as all devout believers in the devil's red and blue cult were sure she would.

She carried two pounds overweight because Arcaro, even with the lead out, couldn't make 112 pounds. She won by two lengths with something in reserve, way. Oclirock tired sufficiently in the late stages to "earn" the bottom spot.

(Delaware Park Photo)

Mrs. E. duPont Weir's Royal Vale winning the 16th running of the Sussex 'Cap, at Delaware Park, over Mrs. W. M. Jeffords' Post Card, by a scant neck. The brown son of Kingsway—Cora Deans, by Coronach carried 130 pounds, conceding 17 to Post Card to set a new track record of 2:00 2/5 for the 1¼ miles. The previous record of 2:02 was established by Stymie in 1948.

Wheatley Stable bred Quick Lunch. The Tremont was worth $10,300 to the winner, which brought Quick Lunch's earnings to $17,150.

Delaware

Mrs. B. F. Whitaker has been taking more tricks with her queen this season than Mr. Whitaker has with his king. While Tahitian King has disappointed frequently, Grecian Queen has provided enough glory for anybody.

She convincingly proved herself the biggest thing in the biggest race ever staged for fillies and mares when she led nine other females home in Delaware Park's $100,000 New Castle Handicap. Kiss Me Kate, expected to provide the most opposition for the Whitaker Queen, showed lameness after a morning blow-out and was scratched.

Grecian Queen, a daughter of Heliopolis—Quania, by Questionnaire, was making her first start against her elders and was the only three-year-old in the race. Well-handled by Ted Atkinson, she led most of the way, repelling challenges by Sunshine Nell, Grandma Josie which seems to be the style this season. The race, worth $12,000, brought Miz Clementine's total to $14,100. The Missouri spelling of "miss" suggests that Ol' Ben filled out the registration blank himself.

The Fourth of July was a day of fireworks at Arlington when, with two added-money events carded, one track record was equalled and another surpassed. So many marks have been tied or beaten this year that we must be improving the breed—either of horses or track superintendents.

The Warren Wright Memorial brought 18 fugitives from Native Dancer, Jamie K. and Royal Bay Gem, the 18 having won almost as much as Native Dancer—all together.

As no Calumet runner was entered, handicapping was particularly difficult, but the big holiday crowd took Van Crosby, with E. Arcaro; or maybe it was the other way around. The public was right, as it is 33 per cent of the time, and the gelded son of Broke Even—Lady Patrol, by Republic, finished the seven furlongs in 1:22, to equal the figure Clang hung up 18 years ago. Van Crosby belongs to the Duntreath Farm of P. L. Grissom.

The Stars and Stripes Handicap, on the grass, was co-featured with the Wright Memorial on Independence Day. Abbe Stings, which had won one race in 12 starts in '53, showed an aptitude for the turf and came home at a 20-to-1 mutuel. The five-year-old is by Abbe Pierre (known to eight-pole habitues as "Abe Perry" when he was running), out of Stringaree, by Oceanic. Cain Hoy Stable's Armageddon finished second and Iceberg II, a good grass runner, was third.

Narragansett

Narragansett Park's King Philip Handicap was run for the 17th time on July 4th, and handicapper Ty Shea did a "Campbell" by assigning weights that brought home the first four within the space of a length.

Good Call, the choice, was the winner, with Thasian Hero, Soldier Son and Shadows Start in that order right beside him.

By Big Game—Fair Profit, by Fair Trial. Good Call was bred in England by The National Stud. He was a stakes winner in Britain at two. He began his American racing career this year at Lincoln Downs and has won five of his 15 starts. At Suffolk, he scored in the Governor's Handicap. His total for the year is $30,850.

Good Call is owned by W. J. Beattie.

Hollywood Park

A Gleam has won every running of Hollywood's Milady Handicap—both of them—and Spanish Cream has finished third in both the inaugural, last year, and in the first renewal.

In 1952, it will be remembered, people on the West Coast were saying that A

Monkey Wrench Wins Indian River

Rokeby Stables' Benbow Scores In Good Form To Win Delaware's National Spring Maiden 'Chase

Galloper

The Delaware Park edition of the National Spring Maiden Steeplechase went to Rokeby Stables' Benbow on June 30. The 5-year-old War Admiral gelding scored very impressively for his second straight stakes win of the meeting. The winner, under Jockey J. Cotter, ran the 2 miles in 3.46 1-5 which is 13-5 seconds slower than Phiblant's track record. James McHugh's Sundowner was 2nd, 5 lengths back, while William Duryea's Swords Point was 3rd.

Swords Point and F. Ambrose Clark's Lord Ivor were off in front and led the field for a turn. However, Benbow, which had been rated along 4th and 5th, went to the front the second time by the stands. His lead was short-lived, however, as Jockey S. Riles on F. Ambrose Clark's Ben Tally-Ho elected to send his mount into a commanding lead as they turned down the backside the last time. As they approached the last fence down the backside, James F. McHugh's Sundowner had moved into 2nd about 3 lengths off Ben Tally-Ho with about 3 more lengths back to Benbow. Then, Benbow came up with a rush rounding the turn to engage Ben Tally-Ho going to the last fence with Sundowner a close up 3rd.

The top pair were really running over the last and Ben Tally-Ho made a bad bobble and lost his rider. This left Benbow all by himself and he went on to score in handy fashion by 7 lengths. Even had the other horse stood up, it is doubtful whether he could have taken Benbow's measure. Meanwhile, Jockey E. Phelps on Sundowner was slightly interfered with by Ben Tally-Ho when he lost his rider and lost whatever chance they had. The black son of Annapolis had made a mistake at the 10th and that error, along with several other minor ones, seemed to have taken its toll. It was 5 lengths back to Swords Point with Rock Hill Farm's Virginius and Mrs. Simon T. Patterson's Thermion bringing up the field. Neither were factors at any state of the running. Ben Tally-Ho's stablemate, Lord Ivor, duplicated his companion's mistake over the last fence and also lost his rider.

Mill River Stable's Monkey Wrench accounted for the 15th edition of the Indian River Steeplechase Handicap on July 3. He won with something in reserve over Lowry Watkins' Tourist List and W. C. Robinson, Jr.'s Cherwell. The favorite, Mrs. E. duPont Weir's The Mast, was 4th. The winner, an 8-year-old gelding by Eight Thirty, covered the about 2 1-2 miles in 4.51 2-5, about 7 seconds off the record. He was capably handled by Jockey E. Carter and was trained by Arthur White.

Tourist List, to the surprise of many, was off on top and stayed there for almost 2 miles under the reins of Jockey P. Furnival. Monkey Wrench, however, was always close up and was jumping well. Cherwell, The Mast and Courtney Burton's Hunting Fox trailed along in that order. Hunting Fox, though, was clearly not at his best and trailed by a considerable margin throughout.

As they came from the backside the last time, Monkey Wrench assumed command going to the second last and held sway under urging to be a winner by an open length. He appeared to be eased up right on the wire. Tourist List, after being displaced, continued on gamely and withstood the late challenge of Cherwell to be 2nd by a head. The latter, after making a rather bad bobble at the 6th, made up ground steadily thereafter and was going well at the end. The Mast lacked a rally, particularly after making a mistake at the 15th while Hunting Fox was not unduly persevered with when hopelessly beaten.

Easily the outstanding horse at the 1953 meeting was Rokeby Stables' Benbow which accounted for the Tom Roby and the National Maiden Steeplechase in his 2 outings. This horse appears to be a future handicap star in his division. Second honors would have to go to Mill River Stable's Monkey Wrench which in his 3 outings was 2nd in the Roby and the Georgetown while taking down the Indian River. The only pessimistic note of the meeting was the failure of 4 out of the 6 carded overnight races to fill.

Steeplechasing At Aqueduct

*Williamsburg Catches Eternal Son In Final Strides To Win 16th Running of Forget Hurdle 'Cap

Spectator

If Lawrence R. Troiano, the Port Washington contractor, completes his building projects as closely as his *Williamsburg won the Forget Handicap at Aqueduct, his customers would have the same heart tremors that *Williamsburg's backers had in this 2-mile test over hurdles. Matter of fact, Mrs. John Bryce, mistress of Mill River Stable was practically in the winner's enclosure when the official result showed Eternal Son only second best by a matter of inches.

It was a thrilling race, and saw 3 horses neck and neck at the final hurdle, Eternal Son, making his bid for double stake honors this season, *Williamsburg, a newcomer to hurdle racing, and Allison Stern's War Rhodes, winner of last week's Amagansett, and 3 races before that, trying to make the Forget his 5th victory of the year. From the last hurdle to the wire, a really short run, Eternal Son, which had set the pace all the way, seemed destined to hold that position to the end, but Jockey T. Field on *Williamsburg had other ideas, and rode a terrific finish to catch the pacemaker in the last stride or two. On the outside of this pair, War Rhodes, highweight of the field with 148 lbs., swerved in the stretch run, and could do no better than 3rd, some 2 lengths behind the winner and runner-up.

The Forget brought 6 horses postward, 4 of them shared in the money distribution of last week's Amagansett, plus Babs Whey, and River Jordan making his first start since he came a cropper in the Belmont National Maiden when he was held at 1 to 2. For better than a turn of the field, Eternal Son dominated the running with River Jordan in close attendance, and the rest of the field well bunched several lengths behind these two.

While none of the six jumped to perfection over the sunbaked course, River Jordan offered the most in contrast. Taking some like a brush jumper, the McHugh fencer landed on all four at others, and during the latter stages of the race put in several poor ones which eliminated him as a contender. Meanwhile, *Williamsburg, showing improved fencing ability over last week's effort moved into second position, while King Commander, his stablemate, which finished 2nd to War Rhodes a week ago, seemed unable to negotiate the fences with speed enough to keep up. Babs Whey, a factor in the final stages, made a bid then hung. Meanwhile the 3 mentioned, Eternal Son, *Williamsburg and War Rhodes made it a real contest around the final turn, and right up to the wire.

Trainer Michael G. Walsh, who conditions *Williamsburg and King Commander, had double reason to celebrate this week. From Southern Pines came the news that Mrs. Walsh presented him with a brand new baby girl.

*Williamsburg completed the about 2 miles in 3:39 4/5, a little more than 2 seconds off the record. Although he was bred in Ireland, he seems aptly named as the son of Rockefeller (John D. did a splendid job at Williamsburg, Va.)

out of Manetta by Nearco, and earned $7,675.

After several weeks of really dry weather, the Aqueduct infield lacks any sort of a cushion, and during each race, the first two or three horses raise enough dust to partially obliterate the remainder of the field. Brush racing, scheduled to start on Friday, July 3rd, had to be postponed as the race failed to fill, so for the second week in a row, the overnight events were run over the less testing hurdle course. Trainer Morris H. Dixon, Sr. scored in two of these with C. M. Kline's Flaw on Tuesday, and again for Mr. Kline the following day with Watch Dog.

Flaw running with a claiming tag of $4,000 just got up in the concluding strides to get the decision by a head at the direct expense of Marcheast, which had raced Joe Hogan into defeat during the first mile, then appeared the winner at the last fence, only to be outrun from there to the wire. Six lengths behind Marcheast, War Candy raced evenly, went wide on the turns, and then closed well in the last sixteenth to snatch 3rd money from Joe Hogan a length or so short of the finish.

The following day, Watch Dog won with a little more to spare, this by a length and a half with Jockey E. Jackson doing the booting. Coveted was next, then Imbursed, owned by Mrs. P. A. B. Widener 2nd, but coupled in the betting as a trainer's entry with Watch Dog. A rather complicated situation arose in this race, for Jockey D. Thomas on Imbursed interfered with Indian Fire around the clubhouse turn, causing that one to lose any chance he may have had. Immediately after the race, the Stewards went to see the film patrol pictures, and in the meantime, the riders untacked and weighed in. Jockey F. Schulhofer, rider of Coveted which finished 2nd, lodged a claim of foul against the winner, which information reached the Stewards in the film room. Because of the fact that two different owners were involved, but both coupled in the betting, and because of the two separate fouls, or possible fouls, just about half the bettors on the race had a financial interest in the outcome. After viewing the films, the Stewards did not allow Schulhofer's claim, but they did disqualify Imbursed and moved Brown Adobe and Sea Term into the 3rd and 4th positions in that order. Had Watch Dog and Imbursed been in the same ownership, the Stewards of course would have had no choice, and would have had

Rolling Plains Consignment

Continuing an annual policy of offering top sales yearlings at Saratoga, Rolling Plains Stable will sell one of the 3 Polynesian fillies offered in this year's Saratoga Springs auction. This filly is out of the good *Sir Gallahad III matron, Ladyofshalott.

Also in the consignment is a colt by Case Ace out of Farmerette's half-sister, Cheesecloth, by Good Goods, and a *Priam II filly out of a young winning Roman mare, whose 2nd dam produced the stakes winner and sire Peace Chance, and Concordian, which at one time was a "thorn in the side" in Armed's racing career in Florida.

Believing that confinement and excessive weight are harmful to young Thoroughbreds, a concerted effort is being made to raise these yearlings as race horses, by leaving them out right up to sales time.

Trans-Oceanic Sales Yearlings

Arrival of the 21 yearlings to be sold by H. H. Aga Khan and Prince Aly Khan at Saratoga Springs the night of Aug. 10 has been confirmed by Ray Bell, American representative. The 9 colts and 12 fillies, all impeccably bred, will be shipped by sea to arrive in New York about July 15.

Nesbit Waddington, manager of the Aga's Sheshoon Stud in The Curragh, will dispatch 14 yearlings from Ireland and Madame Vuillier, who manages Marly-la-Ville Stud, will ship 7 head a few days earlier from France.

Included in the Aga Khan consignment for the Saratoga sales ring are 4 yearlings from the 1952 crop of Tehran, Britain's leading sire last year.

There are also sons and daughters of such famed European stallions as Bois Roussel, Mirza 2nd, Tudor Minstrel, My Babu, Sourerain, Bey, Prince Chevalier, Nimbus, Norseman, Vieux Manoir, Tabriz and Owen Tudor.

KENTUCKY

Headley's Stallions Star

Stallions standing at Hal Price Headley's Beaumont Farm, Lexington, did themselves proud all across the racing map a couple of Saturdays ago. In New York, Tom Fool, by Mr. Headley's Menow, equaled the Aqueduct record of 1:22 flat for 7 furlongs under 135 pounds in the $50,000-added Carter Handicap. In Chicago, Ruhe, another son of Menow, scored an upset in the $50,000-added Equipoise Mile. And in California, Rejected, by Revoked (owned jointly by Mr. Headley and Dr. Esle Asbury), copped the $100,000-added Westerner Stakes.

Mate Destroyed

A. C. Bostwick's 25-year-old Mate, sire of the famed steeplechaser Elkrige, has been destroyed because of old age at John W. Marr's Clarkland Farm, Lexington, where he has been standing for some years.

Bred and raised at Clarkland, the son of Prince Pal—Killashandra, by *Ambassador IV, earned $301,810 during his racing career. He was one of the renowned "Three Titans" of the early 1930's, along with Equipoise and Twenty Grand.

At stud, however, Mate was only moderately successful.

Clark's Fillies

William G. Clark of Midway will sell a couple of speed-bred fillies at Keene-land. One is a half-sister, by Depth Charge, to the Venezuelan stakes winner Vision Azul; and the other is a daughter of Papa Redbird from a half-sister to Lucky Draw.

O'Neill's Irish Luck

The traditional "luck of the Irish" held for Patrick O'Neill, Manager of the Riddle Estate's portion of Faraway Farm, Lexington, during a recent "little tornado" that tore down trees around his residence but left the house undamaged.

"It sure picked them up by the roots and then set them down again," Pat O'Neill commented about the wind.

Light Broom's Brother

A full-brother to Light Broom, which won last year's Louisiana Handicap, will be sold at Keeneland by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Kitchen, owners of Landmark Farm, Versailles.

Old Westport's Saratoga Yearlings

Matt Winn Williamson's Old Westport Place, Anchorage, will sell 4 yearlings at Saratoga next month. They include colts by polynesian and Teddy's Comet, and fillies by Pavot and *Royal Gem II.

Late Foal Reports

Bay colt by *Half Crown—Miss Ferdinand, by *Bull Dog; owned by Christiana Stables; at Duval A. Headley's Beaumont Farm, Lexington. This is a half-sister to the stakes winners Sea Snack and Andre. Miss Ferdinand, which won the Matron and other stakes herself, is being returned to *Half Crown.

Bay colt by Mr. Trouble—Pet, by *Pharamond II; at Hal Price Headley's Beaumont Farm, Lexington. This is a half-brother to Recline, victor in last year's Illinois Owners' Handicap.

The Brownings' Yearlings

B. M. Browning of Nicholasville will be represented at Keeneland by 7 yearlings.

Under the name of his own Brownwood Farm, Mr. Browning has consigned a Brookfield colt and a half-sister, by Mighty Story, to his $900 Fall Sales bargain Golly.

Under the name of Cave Spring Farm, now operated by Mr. Browning and his son Carl, are included a colt and filly by Olympia, a son of *Blenheim II, and daughters of Ace Admiral and My Request. The My Request filly is a half-sister to May Reward.

Alsab's Successor?

Tom Platt, the man who sold the $350,015 earner Alsab for $700, is still at the business of selling bargain yearlings that may make him famous but do little toward paying bills. The latest example is the ridgeling Better Goods, whose recent win in the Yankee Handicap brought his earnings to $43,550. In the 1951 Keeneland Sales, Mr. Platt sold Better Goods to Christopher J. Devine's Boncris Farm for $1,800.

Better Goods is bred much like Alsab. Both are by Good Goods; both have a son of Broomstick as maternal grand-sire; and both have a daughter of Fair Play as second dam.

Bostonian Wins Japan Derby

70,000 Fans Watch 33 Horses Go Postward For Largest Field In History of Fuchu Race

Robert H. Allbee

On the 24th of May, one month after a Japanese boy had won the Boston Marathon, a horse named Bostonian romped home in the Japan Derby.

Bostonian is jointly owned by Mr. Okamoto and Mr. C. H. Corkish. The name must have been picked by Mr. Corkish, a native of Nantucket, and graduate of Harvard in 1933: Certainly there is no New England breeding in this big chestnut colt by Theft—Kamimasa, by Diolite. (There is a rumor here that when the Aga Khan sold Theft to the Japanese for around $250,000 he might have thought the name slightly symbolic. Theft had not proven himself a good distance horse. Bred to Japanese mares which can stay, he has proven himself as a sire. Bostonian is his second Derby winner).

For this year's Derby, Fuchu track at Tokyo was jammed with 70,000 quietly excited fans, including many foreigners, American soldiers and Prince Takamatsu. The rainy season had struck early, and the turf track was very heavy. However, the rain stopped before noon and the sun was shining brightly by post time at 4:00 P. M.

Of the 203 horses registered for the Derby, 33 went to the post for the biggest field in history. The start was not particularly difficult considering the number of horses.

Yashima Gold broke first from the number two position. In a very few strides Jockey Ueda brought Daisanhoshu across the track from the twenty-ninth slot to second position just behind the leader.

Number 6 Yamahata, number 10 Hakuryo, number 25 Fuso and number 14 Cheerio were closely bunched behind the leaders. The first time past the stands Bostonian, carrying number 13, was in about 10th place, running easily on the rail.

At the first corner it was still Yashima Gold. Asakuni was challenging Daisanhoshu and the field had begun to string out.

The second corner Yashima Gold was still setting the pace, followed by Daisanhoshu on the outside. Asakuni and Fuso were battling for 3rd, Cheerio, Hakuryo, and Humoresque were close behind. Here Jockey Ebina brought Bostonian away from the rail. Down the backstretch, or rather up, as it is a long uphill grind, he seemed content to keep clear of the pack and follow Daisanhoshu closely.

Soon after the third turn Yashima Gold faded and Daisanhoshu took the lead on the inside. Hakuryo went to second, and Bostonian, now up to 4th, started to run on the outside. With about a half-mile to go, he pulled up alongside the leaders. Daisanhoshu, and Hakuryo hung on well. The favorite was just too much horse, however. He ran the second furlong from the wire in :12 and went on to win by 2 lengths going away. Daisanhoshu lasted to hold 2nd by a head. Hakuryo was 3rd by a neck over Cheerio.

Bostonian was not too impressive as a 2-year-old. He started 5 times, won twice and placed three times. He seemed fractious at the barrier and never got away well. However, in one of his winning races at 800 meters he equalled the track record of 47.4 seconds and ran the last three furlongs in :35 flat.

This year he has won all 5 of his starts. Strangely enough it took the betting public a long while to install him as a favorite. Even after winning the Satsuki Stakes at good odds, he was far from the favorite in the N. H. K. Gold Cup which he won by 3 1-2 lengths.

Finally in the Derby he was made an 8-5 favorite, an all time record. Even this was probably due as much to superstition as to the horse himself. Thirteen is considered a very lucky number to the Japanese. When Bostonian came up with the thirteenth position and it was learned that the Crown Prince of Japan had been assigned seat 13 at the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth there was a great rush to get some money down on this placid chestnut colt.

BOSTONIAN. Mr. Okamoto and C. H. Corkish's 3-year-old has been undefeated this year.

It is probable that his lack of temperament has caused him to be underestimated. He is not flashy in appearance; still looks coltish and leggy, and likes to stand with his knees buckled and eyes half closed. He has proven that he can sprint and stay. It would be very interesting to see what he could do against good horses in America. The American Thoroughbreds imported here have not done particularly well so far. However, they are admittedly not first class.

It might be of interest to Americans to list the sires of the winners of the Japan Derby. Most of these horses were imported before the War and are now dead.

The outstanding English horse Tournefel, by Gainsborough—Soleste, by Prince William sired 6 of the 20 Derby winners.

Next on the list with 4 winners is Primerol, by Blandford.

Still another English horse Shlan Mor, by Buchan, sired 3 winners.

The only important sire by an American horse is Tsukitomo, by Man o'War. Interestingly enough this colt was foaled prematurely during an earthquake, always was rather small, and never raced. He proved a good sire, however, and is represented by 2 Derby winners and several fine stake mares.

Racing secretary and handicapper O. E. Pons of Suffolk Downs, got that "blanket finish" in the 19th running of the Mayflower Stakes. A head and 2 noses separated the first four horses. G. S. Collela's Switch On, carrying 116 pounds, finished a nose in front of F. P. Ryan's Terrebonne, with 110 pounds, which was a head better than Mrs. I. Gushen's Cold Jack, 113 pounds. A nose was the margin between Cold Jack and Murlogg Farm's Can't Please, carrying 119 pounds.

Arlington Park Hurdle To *Moot

Third Running of Hurdle Stake Draws 9 Starters From Midwest Hunt Meetings

Long Leaf Pine

The 3rd running of The Arlington Park Hurdle Stakes, Arlington Heights, Illinois, outside of Chicago, was run this year on Friday, June 26. Starters are determined under a point system set up by The Midwest Hunt Racing Association whereby horses running at the spring hunt meetings under the jurisdiction of the association accrue points toward eligibility. Horses must start in at least two meetings to become eligible.

There were 23 nominations and 9 horses started this year with the nomination and starting fees going to the winner and $3,000 added.

P. T. Cheff's *Moot, with amateur rider Carter W. Brown up, got away well in 3rd behind J. M. Houghland's Cabot ridden by R. Gough and Harry Nichol's Step Dance ridden by Pat Murphy. When the 1st fence was reached *Moot ran and jumped her way to the front and was never headed thereafter, running under restraint all the way to the last hurdle where she drew away to an easy 6 length victory.

Dr. John Youman's Storm Hour, pre-race favorite ridden by Mr. A. D. Plamondon 3rd, ran and jumped in his usual faultless manner and was kept in contention behind *Moot until the back side second and last time around. There he began fading out of it as the rest of the field started driving in an effort to get to the front-running *Moot and at the finish he was the last horse in. The other half of the Youman entry, Storm On with Mr. Dick Jones up, ran well for the first turn of the course, getting up to 2nd at the 6th hurdle in front of the stands, but then began going badly and pulled up after the 9th.

Byron Hilliard's Rarity, with Mr. Austin Brown up, provided considerable excitement for the crowd and even more for her rider by jumping one of the 10 hurdles and running through the other 9. In front of the stands second time around she made such a mistake that Mr. Brown found himself with both feet on the right side. When this condition had been remedied it turned out that the saddle was still all on the right side where it had been slipped by the impact, so the veteran midwest rider began jumping up and down in the left iron and finally got the saddle back in place. By this time Rarity had dropped back from the middle of the 9-horse field to a poor last but she was put to a hard drive in the club house turn that was sustained from there to the wire. Down the backside and around the final turn she had to take the outside all the way but was picking up ground and reached the final hurdle coming through horses to be sharing the 2nd spot with Harry Nichol's Ginny Bug going into the hurdle. Here again she made a bad mistake but regained her stride in time to outrun Jarrin John by 1 1-4 lengths at the wire for 2nd money.

Jarrin John, winner of The Royalton Steeplechase at Indianapolis two weeks earlier, had his usual rider, Mr. Howard Tilson in the saddle and ran his usual even race, staying off the early pace and coming into contention in the latter stages but he did not show his usual drive.

Ginny Bug ran a similar race and was coming on at the final hurdle but here she came in under the hurdle and made a bad bobble on landing that gave her rider, J. Hobales, what looked like a very bad fall. He was knocked around on the ground by several horses in whose path he had fallen but no damage was done.

Step Dance had moved into contention, also, as the entire field, running closely bunched, began driving down the back side. Apparently he was short because he faded from 3rd after Ginny Bug's fall at the last obstacle and was beaten by Cabot by a 3-length margin for 5th.

Mamission, with owner-rider Mr. Charles Jelke up, closed from way back in the final stages and was 4th over Cabot by a scant head at the wire.

Harriers Will Continue To Hunt During Absence Of Master In Ceylon

Philip K. Crowe, Master of the Kingsland Harriers since their formation in 1933, will be absent from the country for the next four years while serving as United States Ambassador to the Dominion of Ceylon, but his pack will continue to hunt under new Masters.

The majority of the hounds have been given to Sydney Smith of Canaan, N. Y. and will be hunted next season as the Old Chatham Harriers. Mrs. Gordon Cox will share the mastership with Mr. Smith and Mrs. Graham Blaine, Jr. Hounds will be hunted mounted with occasional by-days for foot followers when they will be hunted on foot.

The remainder of the pack will continue to hunt the country around Easton, Maryland under the Mastership of Charles Schuck. Robert Huntman will be honorary huntsman and Mrs. Herbert Austin honorary whipper-in. Mr. Schuck, a former Field Master of the hunt, was recently appointed Joint-Master to carry on the pack until Mr. Crowe's return.

The Kingsland Harriers, formerly known as the Kingsland Beagles, were hunted on foot at New Canaan, Conn., up to the start of the Second World War when they were temporarily disbanded due to the absence of the Master on active duty. In 1950, through the kindness of Morgan Wing, Master of the Sandanona Beagles, who donated some good hounds, and by purchasing drafts from other packs, Mr. Crowe was able to build up another pack with which he has hunted the Easton district of Maryland as a mounted establishment.

Japan Derby

Theft with 2 winners has been treated more in detail. He was also the sire of the dam of Daisanhoshu, which ran 2nd in this year's Derby.

Priory Park, by Rock Savage—Dio lite, by Diophon, and Kabutoyama, by Shian Mor, all have one Derby winner. Kabutoyama, the only Japanese-bred horse on the list, also won the Derby himself.

The Japanese Derby is 1 1-2 miles and the course at Fuchu has two stiff grades. Comparison with the American Derby is impossible and such comparisons are always futile anyhow. It can be said however that Trainer Masumoto brought a well conditioned horse to this race, and the ride by 37-year-old Jockey Ebina was of the highest caliber. As far as is known, a Japanese-bred horse has never been raced outside of Japan. It would be very interesting to see if their horses would show up as well on our tracks as their men did in the grueling street racing of the Boston Marathon.

Westbury Poloists Win 10 To 5 Victory Over Hurricane Team

Bill Briordy

Four goals in the first period set the Westbury poloists on the path to a decisive 10 to 5 victory in their second match of the season with the Hurricanes at Bostwick Field, Old Westbury, L. I., on Sunday, June 28.

Westbury's 9 goaler, Al Parsells, and Henry Lewis each knocked in a pair of markers in the opening chukker to give the victors an early 4-0 advantage. Fred Zeller and young Joe Swartz teamed beautifully with Parsells and Lewis as Westbury poured it on to lead by 7 to 1 at the half.

Alan Corey, Jr., another 9 goaler, scored the Hurricanes first half tally. Corey added another pair in the second half and Bill Crawford and Terence Preece stroked home one each as Stephen (Laddie) Sanford's quartet tried vainly to halt the hard-riding Westbury mallet-men.

At Purchase, N. Y., the Farmington (Conn.) four took a commanding lead for the Governor Forbes Cup by turning back the Blind Brook team, 9 to 7.

The visitors, who had beaten Pittsfield in Cup play previously, scored four times in the third period and three times in the final session. Farmington can win the Cup with a victory in their coming encounter with Fairfield.

Blind Brook, which itself scored four times in the fourth chukker for a 6 to 5 advantage, couldn't hold the visitors as Wickser, Whitehead, Burns and Packard rallied to tie in the fifth period and slammed home the deciding tallies in the finale.

Whitehead accounted for 5 of Farmington's goals, one more than Adie von Gontard scored for Blind Brook.

Another 4-goal chukker, this time at Bethpage, L. I., overcame a 4-1 half-time Brookville lead and paved the way to a 7 to 5 victory for the local club at the State Park field. Billy Hulbert paced the winners attack with 4 tallies, while Walter Scanlon knocked in 2 goals and Stephen Kaye one. George Kent's pair of goals got Brookville off to its early advantage. Billy Stoothoff contributed a pair of markers and James Punderford a single tally to the losers' cause.

Proper Land Use Brings Into Consideration Use Or Market For Produce of the Land

Kent Leavitt

Much has been written and said in the last thirty years about the conservation of our natural renewable resources. Much has been done—good and bad—in the name of conservation. Meanwhile Conservation has become a popular by-word and activity in its behalf almost a religion. Everyone thinks they must be for it without realizing the number of interrelated problems involved nor the methods by which they may be solved.

One might well ask, why all this stir and bother about conservation in a country so rich and prosperous as ours; a country in which one of the main problems facing the incoming administration is that of dealing with tremendous surpluses of certain agricultural commodities.

That phase of Conservation with which I have had such close contact—that of our soil and water resources—might better be termed "proper land use" rather than Conservation. Proper land use brings into consideration the use or market for the produce of the land, be it water or soy beans. One of the basic problems of civilization in America, or in the world, lies in the fact that standards of living are intimately connected with the available supplies of food, fibre, forest products and water. Obviously these are not the only essentials, but shortages in any or all of these will have a depressing effect on the standard of living of any community—large or small. We, in the United States, have always had an ample supply of these essentials. Most of us were brought up to believe that in our country they were inexhaustible. But a few longheaded people like Hugh Bennett began to see, in the early days of this century, the possible effects on our standards of living of an ever increasing population (now at the rate of 2,000,000 or more a year) and an ever decreasing amount of land from which to produce the adequate supply of foods, fibres, forest products and water. They knew, however, that once the demand exceeded the supply of these essential commodities, our standards of living would be adversely affected. They also recognized that this ever increasing population seemed bent on augmenting its per capita demands on our resources. These few longheads had also seen the detrimental effects of current land use practices on our natural resources. Gullies were forming in many fields, rivers were running red, brown, black or yellow with valuable silt; forest lands lay burned over or denuded and whole farming areas had been abandoned as unprofitable to operate. None of these facts brooked well for the teeming generations that are to come. But during these years a majority of us had our minds on other "More Critical" things—World War I, the 1929 stock market boom, the crash and the depression, the Western drought and dust storms, with, unfortunately, a sedative in the form of the ever present and costly agricultural surplus.

What, one may well ask, should a great nation do to adjust itself to the problems of increasing population and diminishing resources and, at the same time, achieve the adjustment within the confines of our democratic form of government. Some have suggested that mandatory legislation be passed forcing landowners to care properly for their property. Others have felt that the only possibility of getting a job of this magnitude done in time would be to pay the landowners to put conservation practices into effect. This latter would be nothing more than bribery from the public treasury. Still others felt that what was needed was an effort of national scope that would bring home to the people a realization of the importance of the task and then give them a concrete plan on which to work.

Those of us in this third category believe that such a project is feasible and must be divided into three parts. The first is primarily educational; one in which we must change the thinking of landowners as to the responsibilities of ownership or of the nature of land ownership itself. If only they could be persuaded to believe that they should not consider themselves as landowners in fee simple, empowered to do with the land as they might see fit regardless of consequences, but rather as trustees of the land, the job would be simplified immeasurably. This should not be such an impossible task, for the duties of a trustee are so simple. A trustee must preserve the principle of the trust so that it may be handed on in as good or better condition than when received. And, second, he must so manage the trust as to give the life tenant a fair income. He, as trustee, even though he may also be life tenant is entitled to compensation for his efforts.

The second part of the program would be research; an increased effort on the part of experiment stations, land grant colleges and private individuals to improve the science of proper land use. New ways and means must be developed for improving production while permanently maintaining the productive ability of the soil. The science of adjusting production to profitably meet changing demands can be part of a good plan. All these have a scope that is limitless and challenging.

Finally, ways and means must be found to apply this new thinking and this new science to every acre of this country in a manner fitting a democracy. This, in itself, is a task so broad and so complicated that there is within it a job for every citizen, no matter what his walk of life may be.

One of the most important tools with which we have to work in getting the science of proper land use applied to our farms, plantations and ranches is a well run Soil Conservation District. Next week the facts of life as they pertain to Districts will be spread thinly over this column.

WEEKLY NEWS

FROM THE

SHOW CIRCUITS

Ak-Sar-Ben Riding Club

Lincoln, Nebr. horsemen took all the prizes in the two jumping classes. The courses were modified Olympics consisting of twice around over four different types of jumps.

War Jester, owned by Lowell Boomer and shown by Jim Boomer, was awarded a 1st and a 2nd in the two classes. This good black gelding will be remembered as reserve jumper champion at the 1952 American Royal at Kansas City, Mo. The other 1st in the Omaha show was won by the bay gelding, Silnor's King, owned and shown by Dr. G. A. Ackerman. Silnor's King has won many ribbons and trophies in mid-west shows including a 1st and a 4th at the 1951 American Royal. He was out of competition in 1952 due to a cracked hoof.

A promising green jumper, Steeplejack, a 3-year-old chestnut gelding owned and shown by Clyde Henson, was awarded 2nd in the afternoon class but through lack of experience hit a jump in the evening class and fell. Neither rider nor horse was injured.

Armory Riding School

For quite a number of weeks, all horse show coverage started out with something like "In spite of the deluge of rain". However, this event was different. The last class was finished on Saturday morning before the drops started falling. When the events scheduled for the next day came into the ring, the weather situation was under control.

In the horsemanship class, up to and including 19 years, the entries could be requested to change horses but there would be no change of stirrups. The riders were to mount unassisted and adjust their own stirrups. Eight-year-old Miss Terry Ann Degan found herself confronted with a 16-hand horse. After lengthening her stirrups, she looked around, found a boulder on a bank, led her horse to it and mounted—she used her head!

Boumi Temple Mounted Patrol

Alta Vista Farm's playful Blue Ridge, with Hugh Wiley riding, chalked up another tri-color at this show as he was awarded the hunter championship. Blue Ridge barely nosed out Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Westenderger's Night Wings, which was ridden by Mrs. Gardner Hallman to be pinned the reserve behind Blue Ridge.

This was one of the largest shows to be held in Maryland in the past few years, as the model hunter class brought to the ring 31 horses and the hunter hack had 41. All of the open jumper classes averaged 30 to 35 horses, while the pony classes had a total of 60 entries.

The open jumper division was a grand win for George DiPaula's consistent Lariat, which was ridden by Linky Smith to take the champion well ahead of Skippy Diehlmann's Play Boy, which was ridden for the first time this season by his owner, who has just returned from college.

Fritz Sterbak's grey mare, Surprise, fenced and hacked in her usual manner to be pinned the pony champion, as she won all her classes except one. The reserve was taken by Billy Boyce, 3rd's Smokey Joe, which was ridden by his owner.

Caumsett Children's Invitation

There were so many nice things about the Caumsett Children's invitation show that it is difficult to know where to begin to describe them. There were several classes, not found at too many shows, which proved interesting and entertaining, including the judging and costume events.

There were four classes for judging. The children judged the novice, maiden and the two under 14 classes, along with the regular judges. Those youngsters whose cards were closest to the regular judges' cards were the winners. Since there were some 20 to 30 children in the classes, plus almost the same number judging, the ring was quite full at times. No results were announced during the day but at the end, all the points for the 4 events were totaled and a championship awarded. The champion proved to be Miss Phyllis Field with Miss Nancy Rice reserve.

The costume event provided the most fun. Miss Gail Price was the winner with a very elaborate cannibal outfit. Not only did she paint herself, but she put black stripes on her grey pony Cloud so that he made quite an authentic zebra. When asked what was used for the stripes, her mother hoped that it was water color.

Horsemanship competition was keener than at any show this year because so many juniors had just returned from boarding school. Not only did Michael Plumb win the two under 14 classes but also the hunting field horsemanship. His father, Charles Plumb, acted as Field Master and he left no doubt that hounds were really running, as far as he was concerned. Others might have, but his son had no difficulty following him. Honors in the 14-16 division were divided between the Misses Sara Ann Cavanagh and Nancy Rice who were champion and reserve respectively.

El Paso Riding-Driving Club

The opening event showed topnotch competition for open jumpers, with four horses turning in a perfect performance on the first round of the tricky course. The jump-off was won by the Desert Fox, while a newcomer to this section, Walnut, a rangy chestnut gelding owned and ridden by Jack Mead of Scotts Bluff, Nebraska, was edged to 2nd place by only 1-2 point.

The Desert Fox, apparently enjoying an unbeatable streak under the skillful piloting of his owner-rider, Mrs. R. C. Jones of Roswell, New Mexico, also earned the blue ribbon in the knock-down-and-out, and again in jumper stake, which gave him the jumper championship. Besides riding The Desert Fox to the top trophy, Mrs. Jones (better known to the horse-show world as Suzanne Norton) also took the reserve title on Meadowland, owned by her father, Colonel A. H. Norton.

The hunter honors this year went to Knight d'Orleans, a well-mannered jumper, owned and ridden by Miss Harriet Markus of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The class for green hunters was an easy take for Mrs. Tom Newman's Style Time, with Mrs. Lucene L. Billing in the saddle. This promising 2-year-old is already living up to the first half of his name with an easy manner of going.

Eugene Hunt Club 15th Annual Spring

Scrap Iron, owned by Harold Hirsch and ridden by Miss Barbara Russell of Portland, won both the open hunters and the hunter stake at the Eugene Spring show. This gives "Chink" (as he is known to his intimates) a good start towards claiming the Oregon Hunter Championship again this year.

In the jumper division good old Harvest Billy with owner-rider Bill Payne, also from Portland, won the John Osburn trophy for open jumpers, while a newcomer to Oregon shows—Miss Geraldine Phelps of Alturas, California with her stout little mare Cender Hill annexed the blue in the jumper stakes. Entries were plentiful in all classes and the jumper performances very good.

Fairfield

The first of the three sectional trials to glean riders for the U. S. Equestrian Jumping Team were held at this show. Open to all men and women who fulfill the requirements of amateur status, the candidates rode one or more horses. After the 2-day competition the winner of this, the Eastern Area Trials, was 22-year-old Miss Patricia Burke aboard the Brook Run Stables' Little David. After the completion of the trials, Brig. Gen. F. W. Boyle, representing the U. S. E. T., spoke and said that, although no specific candidates have yet been chosen as this will not be done until after the other two trials, it seems that at this time the first three winners at Fairfield, Miss Patricia Burke, Mrs. Majorie Gill and Ronnie Mutch will be extended invitations to ride in the final trials at Quentín, Pa. He also urged that these riders work on the horses they used, and others if possible, for the final selection.

In the actual class, held over a wingless course in the middle of Fairfield's spacious polo field, Miss Burke captured the admiration of all present in guiding Little David to a flawless performance the first day and 7 1-2 faults the second day, to be the winner of both phases and the aggregate winner. Ronnie Mutch rode Mr. and Mrs. Leon Haymond's Festive Fire to 8 faults each day to come in 2nd in the total of faults.

In the open ranks, the competition was very close as it has been at the other shows on the circuit. Raymond Burr again emerged victorious aboard Mrs. Don J. Ferraro's Black Watch, after having the only clean round in the stake. Fairview Farms' Ping Pong, Billy Steinkraus aboard came in for reserve.

The champions in the hunter division again came from Virginia and Pennsylvania. In the conformation ranks, the Shawnee Farm's Jack Blandford took the tri-color with 20 points, easily beating out the consistent young horse, Mr. O'Malley and Fairview's Glen Erin which battled it out for reserve. Mr. O'Malley accounted for the award.

The green conformation division again found an easy margin for the champion. James McHugh's Monaha, and a close battle for reserve between Shawnee's War Blossom and Clover Hill Farm's War Thane. The reserve went back to Virginia with War Blossom.

Although Mrs. Edward Spaulding had to watch her Count Hedge from the ground because of a fall she had at Ox Ridge the previous week, he still proved his worth by going on to be pinned champion. He was ridden by Mrs. Carol Del Guercio. Miss Peggy Augustus, after a terrific stake victory on Defense, gained the reserve. Although not figuring in the championship at this show, Mrs. John J. Farrell's Miss Diana, ridden by Miss Jean Slaughter, accounted for the blue in the lightweight, making the grey mare and Defense the only two working horses to win blues at all three shows on this circuit.

The green working hunters again put in very good rounds with only a point separating the two rosette winners. Mrs. E. C. Bailey's Silver Comet, ably ridden by Morton W. "Cappy" Smith, came out just ahead of Stuart Lanham a board Donald Hostetter's Pahpe. Fairview Farms' Golden Glen and Walter Wickes, Jr.'s Bronze Wing were also very strong contenders.

In the children's section, Miss Rosalind LaRoche and Miss Glenna Lee Maduro were the undisputed champions. Winning all her horsemanship classes but one, Rosalind was champion over Glenna who went back in and got her second leg with Memory Boy on the lovely children's horse championship.

Fulton-Dekalb Shrine

Highlight of this show was the excellent performance of Shakerag Hounds' new huntsman, Boley Branham, riding the hunter champions in both divisions.

He skillfully reined Oliver Healey's Flying Sally to accumulate a total of 11 1-2 points to earn the conformation hunter championship.

Bonnie Jean II, well ridden by her young owner, Miss Barbara Butler, was reserve.

Huntsman Branham also guided Mrs. Helen Hedekin's Cherokee to total 13 points for the working hunter championship.

Reserve championship went to Copan, owned and ridden by Mrs. Joan Morganthal of the Branchwater Hunt, Birmingham, Alabama.

In the jumper division, Reno Ozone, owned by Dudley Fort and ridden by Spunky Fisher, took home the tricolor. Reserve went to Little Joe, owned by Mrs. J. L. Sheehan.

Another brilliant point in the show was the excellent horsemanship classes with many top young riders. The senior division blue went to Miss Nancy Laird, in a class so close that any of the first four places could easily have been first. In the junior division Miss Clements, Miami, Florida, rode to a narrow win over Wally Kennedy.

The championship class was a keenly contested class and only a hair-breath separated the champion, Miss Barbara Butler from the reserve, Miss Lynn Ford.

Grand Rapids Charity

This show was held on the grounds of the Lowell, Mich. 4-H Club. There were only 3 hunter and 3 jumper classes for any one horse, but the events were well filled.

P. T. Cheff of Holland brought his jumps and 8 horses, and Max Bonham of Battle Creek had 8 there. There were several local entries and lots of juniors for the horsemanship classes.

Miss Katie Kolk of Holland had her good going dun horse, The Saint, there to win the working hunter class. Max Bonham tied with himself on his new bald-face horse, The Face, and Miss Betty McGuire's The Acrobat, for the jumper stake. He gave it to The Acrobat. He also won the hunter stake on Per Gin, owned by Mrs. Sylvester Johnson, Jr. of Zionsville, Ind. Mr. Cheff was 2nd in the stake with his honest going horse, Vagabond.

With the thermometer at close to 100 degrees, the riders were readily granted permission to show without their coats. Salt tablets were dispensed to riders and spectators, and occasionally one of the horses would beg some.

Stirrup Hill Farm won their second leg on the Parkgate Trophy when William Stirling rode Extravagance (also the winner in 1951) for the blue ribbon round. Extravagance was also pinned working hunter champion over David L. Clark III's Hallmark.

Mrs. Simon T. Patterson's Gerald's Aide topped the entries to gain a leg on the Western Pennsylvania Hunt challenge trophy and then finished up the day with the conformation hunter tri-color. Reserve honors went to George P. Gable's Ginoper.

Among the green hunters, William H. Hanley's Tillery's Spree gained the rosette with Alfred M. Hunt's Kiev's Coat reserve.

Oak Grove and Santa Barbara Spring Meets Held Successfully Under F.E.I.

Major G. de Roaldes

The purpose of this write-up is not to enter into the controversy now in progress in the columns of The Chronicle, as to the merits or disadvantages of the F. E. I. Rules and as to their whole introduction in this country in lieu of the existing old ones governing equestrian events.

However, to keep out of the conflict—for the time being at any rate—does not mean that I should refrain from commenting favorably on the work of those who, having the courage of their opinions, that is, having faith in the F. E. I. principles as a means to improve equitation and horse training, are, relentlessly, in spite of opposition, on permanent hunter and jumper courses and dressage arenas.

Now, since the war, there remain only three F. E. I. meets, namely: The Malibu, the Oak Grove and the Santa Barbara, the latter being the most important on account of the magnitude of its hunter course over natural country and its typical F. E. I. jumping field.

The Malibu Meet, located on the very shores of the Pacific, is organized by Egon Merz, one of the charter members of the Equestrian Sports Association. Mr. Merz has the distinction of having never failed to participate—mostly with success—in all "Three putting these principles into practice, in all the competitions they are organizing or sponsoring.

Up to a year or so ago very little was done in the northern part of California in the way of introducing F. E. I. type of events.

However, lately Combined Tests such as the Caprilli and the Three-Day Event competitions began to appear in the San Francisco area, and this spring three Three-Day Event competitions of a major importance were held at Pebble Beach, Concord, and Santa Cruz. These F. E. I. events were run in connection with other competitions for hunters and jumpers.

In Southern California F. E. I. events are not a novelty. However, they are very seldom seen at Horse Shows, and if they are, the jumping courses are not of the F. E. I. pattern.

For some years, especially before the war, F. E. I. events were held frequently and regularly, under the sponsorship of the Equestrian Sports Association in several districts and held

Day" events for the last nineteen years.

As the Malibu Meet takes place in the late summer, the following summary will deal only with the Oak Grove and the Santa Barbara Meets which have been recently held.

Miss Rosalind T. Johnson, another very active member of the Equestrian Sports Association, is the moving spirit of the Oak Grove Equitation Competition, which is held every spring on the grounds of the Flintridge Riding Club in the Pasadena outskirts.

This spring the meet was by far the most successful on account of the number of entries and their quality.

With the exception of a "Caprilli" competition for adults the program was a junior affair. It was comprised of dressage competitions of various degrees, elementary, secondary and advanced; a jumping class judged for equitation over fences; and a miniature Three-Day Event for young riders; the latter competition being held there for the fifth consecutive year.

As I had the privilege of judging the meet in company with the successful international rider Commandant G. Ganshof van der Meersch of Belgium, I made mental notes on the ensemble of the performances.

In the elementary and secondary dressage classes the performances were good and on the improvement over previous years. However, in practically every individual showing, the horses lacked impulsion, that is the rider did not make a sufficient use of his legs in order "to put the horse on the bit". Furthermore the horses were not kept straight enough, especially at the gallop. Too little difference was shown between the ordinary and extended gaits.

The advanced dressage performances were not so good, the horses lacking impulsion, collection, and the good balance required for that degree of schooling. The "two-track" was hardly indicated. In the cross country phase the youngsters rode with much boldness and coolness on a rather tortuous course amongst trees and high brush. However, most of these little riders could have obtained more fixity of seat and "go better" with forward movement had they shortened their stirrups a hole or two.

Not a few amongst these were pupils of Miss Johnson, who being an efficient instructor, must be given much credit for the vast improvement in horsemanship in her sphere of influence.

Miss Johnson is not only an able teacher, she is also a good performer in the saddle in all phases of riding, as shown by her success in competitions—mostly on "cheap" horses.

The Santa Barbara Meet, sponsored by the Equestrian Sports Association, was held the last week-end of May. With the exception of the 1951 official Olympic Try-outs, which took place on the same grounds, the recent meet was the best since the war.

The program consisted, as usual, of the individual and "combined tests" established by the F. E. I.; dressage, jumping and cross country riding. Each separate event was divided into two or more classes in accordance with the quality of the horses, their degree of training, and the ability or age of the riders.

Thus the Three-Day event had as many as four divisions: Junior riders, Green horses, Amateurs, and Open to all.

As afore said, the dressage phase in all divisions was of a good standard, most horses showing sufficient qualities of obedience and handiness necessary for good work in the field. On the whole, the cross country performances were also good, only two horses being eliminated. On the other hand, the jumping phase or "stadium jumping" was a rather disappointing affair, especially in the green horse and open to all divisions, where not a few horses met their Waterloo in front of a ditch full of water. In fact none of the green horses completed the course, thus all participants in that division of the Three-Day event were eliminated.

The division for amateurs gave by far the best ensemble of performances. Irish Dew, ridden by Miss Margaret Stanton, won the event. Jim Dandy with her owner up, Miss Mary Jane, Chapman, was awarded the 2nd place, and Miss Anita Esberg on Tamerlane the 3rd.

The main feature of the meet was the third running of the challenge trophy for Three-Day event—open to all.

Three-Day Events

Amongst the starters in this event, four horses were considered of about the same quality and ability, and their riders equally experienced. Any conjecture as to the issue of the contest between these would have been as good as another.

With the exception of the 5-year-old Thoroughbred mare Satterly Bayin Tip, owned and ridden by Miss Rosalind T. Johnson, all these horses were well seasoned hunters with good records to their credit. As for Miss Johnson's mare, although a new comer, she had shown a great deal of calmness and boldness in her work. She has galloping and jumping ability and she benefited from the skillful riding of her owner.

Beau Geste, owned and ridden by G. M. Mott, was the defender of the challenge trophy, having won it last year and being the runner-up in 1951 behind Miss Johnson on Trafalgar.

Stephanette, the good old campaigner of Mrs. Egon Merz, her owner up, could be trusted to make a very good job of the three tests, providing of course she could overcome her reluctance to take wide ditches.

Mars Eclipse, owned and ridden by Miss Ann Richards, is also an old timer, with lots of experience and which when confronted with a difficulty or an unusual kind of obstacle, uses utmost caution. It is remarkable how that good horse makes use of his head, physically and mentally.

Stephanette won the dressage phase, scoring very high.

In the cross country phase—2 miles with 20 obstacles—Beau Geste and Satterly Bayin Tip each made a clean performance, both earning the maximum of 600 points, their respective time being 6:30 and 6:14.

Mars Eclipse was penalized for a refusal at a panelled road crossing. His time was 6:30. As for Stephanette, she was eliminated at the very last obstacle—a wide ditch with a post and rail on the take off side.

While the cross country run was comparatively easy, the jumping test offered the maximum of severity for that phase, owing to the length of the course, the number (16), size, and kind of obstacles, which according to F. E. I. specifications comprised a bank, a water jump preceded by a hedge, and a ditch full of water, the latter being the middle element of a treble, where all the horses with the exception of Mars Eclipse were penalized or eliminated. Only two horses completed the jumping course; Mars Eclipse with a clean performance over the obstacles but a penalty of 4 points for overtime, and Satterly Bayin Tip which, lacking sufficient condition, began to tire after the 6th jump, but finished gamely if not laboriously, with a total penalty of 31 points, 8 of these for overtime.

Thus Miss Ann Richards and her good horse emerged victors of the Three-Day event challenge trophy with the high score of 914. Miss Johnson placed 2nd with 895 points. No other horse finished.

Another feature of the Santa Barbara Meet was the participation of "Hors concours" of Charles Hough, Jr. on his horse Craigwood Park. This talented young rider, having not yet reached his twentieth birthday, has the enviable distinction of having won the best place amongst all other members of the United States Team at the Olympic Games. He placed 9th in the "Three-Day" events in which 60 riders of different nationalities competed.

Mr. Hough gave two dressage exhibitions, one of these being the exact replica of that phase of the Olympic Three-Day event. Perhaps many of the lay public or even not a few of the would be horsey crowd were expecting something spectacular. If so, they must have been somewhat disappointed because both performances were "as they should have been", that is, a good demonstration of what is required from a well trained and well ridden horse: calmness, impulsion, obedience.

With a good deal of discretion in the application of the aids, this rider showed his horse in all movements of secondary dressage at the collected, ordinary and extended gaits, on two-tracks and at the false gallop. All this was done smoothly and accurately.

Each afternoon of the two days' meet, young Hough galloped over the full length of the hunter course in a brilliant style. He also gave two performances over the stadium jumping phase of the Three-Day event. However, to show that even performers of international caliber also have their failings, he had a run-out at one of the easiest obstacles of the course.

The main purpose of this circuit of Three-Day events in California is to discover new material in horse and riders for the making of international performers.

In my opinion, everything being taken into consideration, the most promising prospect I know of is Miss Johnson's Satterly Bayin Tip. Give that gallant young mare another couple of years of slow gradual training and conditioning, and barring accidents, she could be developed into another Jenny Camp of Three-Day fame.

It was good to see so many young and green horses out for the first time. Fortunately both days were fine after endless days of rain.

Junior Equitation School Pony and Junior

Miss Laura Lee Shreve of Falls Church, who has been busy piling up more credits to her already top-flight riding ability this year, had the distinction of riding the grand champion and reserve grand champion of the successful two-day junior show staged by Alexandria's Junior Equitation School.

Fancy, Laura Lee's 4-year-old grey, was crowned the grand champion after amassing 17 points in the small pony division.

Reserve in the small pony category was a school-owned entry, Sauce Box, ridden by Kathryn Kusner. The reservist had a tally of 11 1-2 points.

In the large pony ranks, Popsicle, Laura Lee's veteran campaigner, emerged the victor, only one point behind her small stable-mate. However, close on the heels of Popsicle was Troubadour, owned by Mrs. Randy Gardner Evans of Maryland. Troubadour settled for reserve spot with 15 1-2 points.

As I indicated before this was a real field day for Laura Lee, for she also rode the champion and reserve winners in the junior division. Gene Cannon's smooth performing Golden Belle won the crown with a tally of 14 points, while Miss Blanche Johnson's campaigner, Valbo, was reserve with 13. Both of these horses battled nip and tuck for these honors, and turned in faultless rounds for the young miss.

Miss Toni Brewer won top honors in the horsemanship division, and took home this tri-color with 12 points. Reserve went to Miss Carolyn Evans of Arlington with 10 points.

The most exciting and hotly contested events of the two-day show, were the junior olympic team events. It was like seeing a pint-size version of olympic events. By winning two out of the three events, the team consisting of the Misses Sarah Scheleen, Sue Councilor and Sara Willis, carried off the beautiful silver bowl.

The first full-fledged Connecticut Horse Show Association member-show of the '53 season was held on the grounds owned by the L. B. Riding Club. The top horses of the central Connecticut area turned out to start collecting the ever important C. H. S. A. points, for these points will determine the Connecticut Champions at the close of the season.

Last year's state champions Rimwrack (Conn. Jumper Champion) and Skylark (Conn. Working Hunter Champ) were on hand to defend their titles, but Pitchfork and Tally-Ho (Conn. Reserve Champions last year) claimed the L. B. tri-colors.

A new horse, Indian Giver, owned and ridden by Jerry O'Connor, placed 1st in the Open Working Hunter class and was awarded the James E. Pepper trophy. This trophy, a handsome Reverse bowl, is the second of a series of trophies which will be offered at Connecticut shows during the season by the James E. Pepper Co. of Kentucky.

Lincoln Saddle Horse Club

In spite of threatening skies preceding the 8th annual Lincoln Saddle Horse Club Show, there was a record turn out of entries and spectators. The fifteen classes were scheduled to allow every owner or admirer of any type of horse or horsemanship the opportunity to show or see his choice. A special feature was the classes limited to students of the Lincoln's club's instruction program which has been in operation this season under the direction of the president, Lowell Boomer.

Loyalhanna

The Loyalhanna Show entirely organized and run by juniors was a great tribute to the youngsters. It was well run, no confusion and no griping.

The perpetual equitation bowl, the last class of the day, is the most sought after blue. Not only do the youngsters have to mount, dismount; walk, trot and canter on the diagonals but they must answer questions regarding the care of their horses and tack. The judges had a tough job on their hands with Miss Joy Henskey and Miss Joanne Bedeuk, both of them doing an excellent job, after having them change mounts they finally gave the nod to Joanne.

From the spectator's viewpoint it was as entertaining from the outside of the ring as the inside. For here is what you heard. "Kick him on Johnny—take her back Mary—your curb rein's too long—sit up straight—get forward—put your heels down—oh! dear, Frank lost his hat—where is your hat. I told you always to take a stick with that pony. This is Ann's first show—George won a ribbon, isn't it wonderful. Go on with him—kick him—that pony never bucked before, can't understand it."

At the end of the day, parents and instructors were leg weary and tired—not the riders—they had had a good day and were ready for their exhibitors party.

Milwaukee Hunt Club Schooling

This third schooling show had about 58 entries and it was pleasing to note that as the shows progress and summer really gets under way, the number of entries have increased.

In view of the fact that schooling shows are supposed to be what the name implies and because the older riders do get used to riding and showing one particular horse, it was decided, with the riders' approval, to make things a little more interesting. Just before the show the horses' names were juggled in a hat and the kids reached in and drew—not knowing what horse he or she would come up with. Although a few of the performances in the first jumping class might have been a bit smoother, as the show went on and horse and rider became adjusted, there were some very nice rounds.

While not assuming that switching jocks generally benefits a horse, being able to do a good job on different horses goes into the making of a real rider.

Several of the youngsters had a satisfying day such as Miss Susan Mackie coping both blues in the 3-0" division of the open jump and touch and out. Also Miss Julie Teipel on Cinnamon Stick won the 3'-6" division of the touch and out and placed 2nd in the open jump. Nine-year-old Miss Susan Helmholz won the beginner's horsemanship on Topsy.

Nile Temple Mounted Patrol

If a jumper champion had been named at this show, it would have been Jim McCleave's bay gelding, Thunder. This strong jumper won the blue in both the Nile course and the jumper stake. He was also in the winning pair and the jumping team.

In the knock-down-and-out, Miss Tip Toes showed her heels to larger and stronger jumpers as she was skillfully ridden over the course by Miss Jean Davies to capture the blue.

At the end of this show, Miss Betty MacLane's Wampus Kitty was leading the Washington State jumpers with the largest number of points. Miss Dianne Black with Rayhak Rakwan was in 2nd spot and Miss Jean Davies and Miss Tiptoe were a close 3rd.

Oak Brook

This show at Hinsdale followed so closely on the heels of Lake Forest, as planned, that many stables laid over and found the Oak Brook show and the weather much to their liking. For example, J. Arthur Reynolds, who shipped in from Tryon, N. C., annexed the working hunter tri-colors at both Lake Forest and Oak Brook with his brilliant young jumping, chestnut mare, Going My Way.

It was interesting to note that at Lake Forest, where there is no outside course, the Hugh Gentry's great little bay, Copperfield, showed to the very best advantage to win the conformation hunter championship over the Andrew Shinkles' big, dark chestnut, Seveven. However, at Oak Brook over the outside course, Seveven had a chance to really show his way of moving to win the conformation tri-color over Copperfield. These two horses are entirely different "movers", but equally good in their own right.

The Gentry's lovely grey 3-year-old, Suggestion, repeated his green hunter championship at Lake Forest and Oak Brook, being a most consistent young individual.

Speaking of outside courses, one can not help but comment on the one at Oak Brook. It is a "doozy" and a "lol-lapaloozer" and that is putting it mildly. Each year it has gradually climbed and expanded until now even the spectators gasp, wheeze and puff to get each horse and rider safely over the course. Three days of spectating jumping every horse over every jump on the course in every class leaves one in such an exhausted state of nerves that one wonders where the fun in horse shows is fleeing to.

Let this be said that, amazingly enough, there were no bad spills and horses were jumping mighty big and carefully, but, hunters had to go "like an open horse" at times to negotiate things in a creditable manner. It was the consensus of opinions of most of the exhibitors at the show that three days of that type jumping is asking a good deal of any horse.

The breeding class offered a bit of deviation and many chuckles when about 10 suitable to become young hopefuls, many of them well under 2, came gaily into the ring, with wary owners on the ends of leads. Up on their hind legs and much waving to Efficiency was the keynote at this show, which ran over 1,000 entries in 52 classes and finished by 5 o'clock each day. Much credit must be given to Richard Carver and Miss V. Felicia Townsend for keeping the two rings and the outside course running together, and for keeping the whole show going without a flaw in its mechanism.

Entries appeared from everywhere, and although the weatherman gave us a surplus of heat, they all performed exceptionally well in all divisions. Competition was very close in the green working hunter ranks, with the stake giving the deciding points and the tricolor to Miss Jean Cochrane's newly acquired Johnny Scarlet. Up from Pennsylvania and a transfer from the hunt meets was Walter Wickes, Jr.'s beautiful moving Bronze Wing. This horse, piloted by Miss Betty Bosley, accounted for the open and the preliminary, showing he has manners as well as jumping ability.

The working hunters, on the other hand, had the greatest number of points on the score sheet, with Mrs. John Farrell's Miss Diana and Mrs. Joseph Merrill's Savoirfair battling all the way for the championship. Winning the stake, the ladies, and the two-day event, Miss Jean Slaughter guided the Farrell's grey mare to be pinned champion, only 1 1-2 points ahead of Australia and the 1956 Olympics

Reasons Why Scare of Horses Diseases Is Justified—Olympics Or No Olympics

Stanislaus Lynch

Although the meeting of the International Olympic Committee in Mexico City gave final sanction to the 1956 Olympic Games being held in Melbourne, it settled nothing, so far as the riding events are concerned. A subsequent conference in Canberra of Federal and State veterinary Surgeons recommended that Australia's strict quarantine laws remain unaltered.

This means that if the games are held in Melbourne, all horses competing must undergo a six month's quarantine in either Ireland, Great Britain, or New Zealand, the only three countries that are free from the specified diseases.

Australia is adamant, and justifiably so, for any relaxation of the regulations might have consequences too terrible to contemplate.

The Diseases Most Dreaded

The Australian quarantine law aims at keeping out four of the most dreaded diseases:—equine encephalomyelitis, equine infectious anemia, glanders and serra.

Encephalomyelitis kills 50 per cent of the horses it affects in America, Canada, Central and South America, and about 90 per cent of those affected in Eastern countries. The disease is spread by a mosquito, and an Australian mosquito would be an ideal carrier and could wipe out the Australian horse population in a short time. It can have serious and sometimes fatal results on human beings. Even if a horse survives, which is unlikely, he is liable to go mad at any time, depending on which phase of the disease he has contracted. There are three phases:—walking, sleeping and violent encephalomyelitis; the latter driving them stark, raving mad! Until the disease actually develops, veterinary science has not yet discovered any reliable means of diagnosing its presence.

Equine Infectious Anemia

Here again there is no reliable test for this disease, and in one case, a horse is supposed to have carried the virus unsuspected for ten years. It occurs in parts of Europe and Asia, and sometimes goes by the name of Swamp Fever in America. Japanese army transport horses spread it a great deal during their invasions of various eastern countries and islands during the war; and in New Britain, the authorities had to slaughter hundreds of horses rather than risk the disease being carried into New Guinea and Australia. Death may be slow, but it comes eventually.

Glanders

The presence of Glanders can be located by the Mallein Test, but the disease is so frightfully infectious that no regulations could be too strict to keep it from creeping into any country. Nowadays, it mainly occurs in Asia, North Africa and remote parts of Eastern Europe. It took its toll in the long ago in Ireland and Great Britain, while America is almost, but not quite, free of it now.

It can be transmitted from horse to horse, or by infected bedding or fodder, and even by contaminated grassland. The disease may lie dormant until the horse's resistance is reduced by overwork, poverty, or severe living conditions. The virus can have an incubation period varying from a few weeks to a few years, during which it is only waiting its chance for the horse's strength to weaken from some cause or other; when it will suddenly flare up and create an epidemic in a whole neighbourhood. The laws governing its control are as unrelenting as those for foot-and-mouth disease in cattle—immediate slaughter.

Serra: A Blood Parasite

Like malaria, Serra, is a blood parasite, and will kill horses in a few days or a few weeks, and can affect cattle, dogs and other animals. It is spread by flies, and since there is a buffalo fly in Australia, the disease could cause devastation not only to the horse population but to the vast cattle industry.

It once made its appearance in Australia, when the Government imported camels for work in the "Ninety Mile Desert" and other barren areas, in the early part of the century, but the animals were slaughtered immediately and an epidemic prevented.

Effects on Olympic Riding Events???

Even the most ardent supporter of the Olympic ideals can see that the Australian authorities cannot be expected to alter their quarantine laws even for the honour of having the Olympic Equestrian Events held in their country for the first time in history. The risk of infection to its vast cattle and horse population is too terrible to contemplate. What the upshot of the present deadlock will be, only time will tell. The Games are being held in Melbourne, but where will the equestrian events be held?

Horse Shows

Mrs. Merrill's mare, which accounted for one blue and five seconds. Next in line was Mrs. Elizabeth Correll's Royal Guard, 9 points behind the leaders.

In the jumper ranks, the champion, Mrs. Don J. Ferraro's Black Watch, only accumulated 13 points, while a tie resulted between Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Merkel's Why Daddy and Volco's Royal Knight for reserve. Gaybor Foltényi, who placed Mr. Merkel's horses

1-2 in the F. E. I., won the jumpoff for reserve over Frank Chapot, who is showing Royal Knight very well.

George Morris had things all his own way in the horsemanship division, winning all four classes entered and the championship. This win retired the championship challenge trophy, with the only other person to have a leg on it, Miss Glenna Lee Maduro, coming in for reserve. Glenna won her third medal at Ox Ridge, thus qualifying for The National Horse Show at The Garden. In the children's hunters, for a challenge trophy presented by Miss Maduro, Miss Billie Eadie gave her mare, Bambina, an outstanding round to gain her first leg on it.

The conformation division was much heavier than usual, with 18 horses shown in the model. Horses appeared from Virginia, and other far points, but it was a Connecticut horse which took home the championship. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bowen's Mr. O'Malley, which was still a limit at the beginning of the show, performed consistently well to be pinned ahead of Wee-3 Stables The Angel, which turned in another top round to win the stake, as he did at Greenwich and many other shows.

Three Day Event Team Tryouts

Rimrock Farm and Military Reservation Course Will Be Used For Labor Day Week-End Event

In the 1952 Olympic Games the United States brought out its first civilian Three Day Team and the members of that team captured 3rd position. Considering the amount of work which is necessary to build up such a team, the supporters of this phase of Olympic competition were more than pleased.

Feeling that work should be begun early with a thought toward competition in the 1956 Olympic Games, the persons interested in a Three Day Team felt it was necessary to hold a National Three Day Team tryout this year. If such a tryout were not held, it was feared that it might not be possible to get such a team started again in 1954 when another such test is planned in order to have representatives in the Pan American Games in 1955. Therefore, at a meeting in New York the following was agreed upon:

(1) That there would be National Three Day Team tryouts this year and that the dates would be Labor Day week-end, September 5-6-7.

(2) That the place would be Rimrock Farm (near Junction City, Kans.)

(3) That it would be under the auspices of the United States Equestrian Team, Inc. and would be sponsored by the Three Day Advisory Committee whose chairman is Walter Staley of Mexico, Mo.

(4) That the purposes of these tryouts are to keep up the continuity of this important event of Olympic Games and to build up a "back log" of young riders so that the country will be assured of having a representative team in the Pan American and Olympic Games.

(5) That we are assured of at least six competitors at the present time and hope to have twice that number at the time of tryouts.

(6) That these tryouts will be severe enough to test the riders and horses, but will not be of equal severity with the test in Helsinki.

Present plans call for a test about the same as the Badminton Trials which were held in England this past April. In this test the dressage was simpler than Helsinki. In the cross country endurance test (2nd day) the total distance was 17 1-2 miles instead of the full distance of about 22 miles. The third day, stadium jumping, will be about the same. This not only modifies our event but it also gives us a basis of comparison.

The members of the Three Day Committee of the U. S. Equestrian Advisory Committee are Walter Staley, Richard D. Collins, Francis G. Coates, Major Jonathan Burton and Robert J. Tieken. At Fort Riley the training is under the guidance of Col. John W. Wofford and Capt. Robert Borg. This training is also open to professionals and Col. Wofford states that at least two professional riders expect to take the course. Any professional rider will be welcome.

At this writing there are three young amateur riders already in Kansas. They are Frank Duffy, Birmingham, Mich., Michael Fields, Leavenworth, Kans., and Warrenton Wofford, Milford, Kans., Billy James of St. Louis and Walter Staley, Jr. of Mexico, Mo. are preparing horses for the tryouts in September. The latter two were on the Olympic squad in Helsinki. It is hoped that Charles Hough of California can also be there but he is delayed by illness in his family.

Jeb Wofford, who is in Officers Training Camp at Fort Benning, will be out in August and he expects to take part in the tryouts, as does Major Jonathan Burton of Fort Knox, Ky. Col. Wofford has had a letter from Larry McGuinness of Canada who wrote that there is a possibility of at least two horses and riders coming in from Canada. Mexico is being invited to send either individual riders or a team.

The location of the tryouts is almost ideal. Col. Wofford has always stressed the importance of laying out a course so that it can be seen by spectators. By the use of Rimrock Farm and the Military Reservation, the spectators can stand on one hill and see all of the 34 jumps on the cross country phase, as well as the earlier steeplechase phase. Last year Col. Wofford walked the Badminton course and he feels that we have a much better location for the event.

At the conclusion of the tryouts in September, a team will be named for the award but it will be an honor rather than a selection. The final selection will be next year for the 1955 Pan American Games. If these tryouts receive full support, they will become an annual fixture and should become one of the outstanding events in the country.

If any young rider in the country would like to participate in these tryouts, he should get under the instruction of someone capable of schooling him and his horse in the dressage phase. This is very important, for unless the rider can have a creditable performance in this, it is hardly worthwhile attending a trial of this importance. There are many instructors who can give this dressage training suitable for the Three Day Event.

Anyone who wishes further information on the Three Day Event can have his questions answered by contacting Col. John W. Wofford, Rimrock Farm, Milford, Kans.

Rolling Rock Hunt Horse and Breeders

The new ringside stabling facilities greatly improved the Rolling Rock Show. The versatile outside course is one to be envied having three distinct courses, each an excellent test of a hunter.

The horses were hacking to such perfection that the judges felt it was necessary to try four of the entries before their final pinning.

Mrs. Simon T. Patterson's Bond Drive, with Mrs. Sherwood Martin up, won a second leg on the Huntland Downs Challenge Cup. Another second leg win was the hunt teams, Hunting Hill Challenge Cup, with Persifer Oliver on Red Stone, Mrs. Henry J. Stringer, Jr. on Senator and Thomas H. Nimick on Easy Does It, riding for the Rolling Rock Hunt. Senator and Easy Does It also took top honors for the team on the first win last year.

The top tri-color honors of Stirrup Hill's Extravagance was an undisputed victory, this strong going horse never being pinned out of the ribbons. This was also his second championship in as many weeks.

Shreveport Charity

This is getting to be one of the nicest shows in the southwest. They have a new arena which is wonderful to show in and the stalls are grand. We understand that the arena will eventually be completely enclosed to make a coliseum, etc. But open or closed, one couldn't ask for a smoother or better run show.

It is a show where the champions are the stake winners rather than on accumulated points. The open division was unique in that not a single first place winner repeated. That is really scattering the ribbons around. The hunter division was different in that two horses shared the firsts with two apiece. Pappy of Edgepark Stables and Red Bird of the Robert Baskowitz stables were the first place winners involved.

The Riding Clubs' Junior

Most of the classes of the Riding Clubs' Junior horse show were either of the saddle horse or western type. However, the Henry Bergh Trophy, which is comparative to the MacLay in recognized shows, was offered, the winner being Miss Judy Palmer. Judy took time off from her regular saddle seat riding to show her 5-year-old Thoroughbred mare, Sew In Sew, which she has trained and shown successfully. Judy's versatility in riding is evident for when she is not on a saddle horse or hunter, she can usually be found upon a stock horse.

Goosie is also a half-sister to Goose Cry, the dam of the stakes performer Tweet's Boy.

The good show ring working hunter, Parma Molly, by Hurryhoff is in foal to *Rhodes Scholar. Her 3-year-old Jam-boree, by *Tourist II is a member of Mrs. S. C. Clark, Jr.'s stable while, her yearling chestnut colt, also by *Tourist II will be sold at Meadowbrook this year.

Milton Roberts of Canadaigua has the winning Wise Prophecy, by Market Wise—Prophecy, by Ariel, in foal to *Isolator at Roscommon. Prophecy is a half-sister to the stakes winners Infidox, Ringmenow and to Third Covey, plus numerous other winners.

Passembud

At the 1952 Saratoga Yearling Sales, Mrs. Mary D. Mayo consigned the only Pass Out to be sold at the sales that year. The youngster was a bay colt out of Margus, which is by Psychic Bid and B. L. Williams went to $4,000 for the prospective racer. He named him Passembud. On June 30, at Monmouth Park, Passembud won his 2nd race out of 3 starts, finishing in the place position the other time, netting $5,990 for his owner.

The mare Margus was the big factor in the purchase of Passembud. B. L. Williams purchased her as a yearling for $1,000 out of the J. S. Phipps consignment in 1943. She is by Psychic Bid—Festivities, by *Sir Gallahad III, and was a modest winner for Mr. Williams at 2, 3 and 4. In 1946 she was bred to Pass Out and produced Passembud, which has won the Providence Stakes, was 2nd in the Yankee Handicap, 3rd in the Travers, Jersey Stakes and 4th in the Peter Pan and Constitution 'Caps, to win some $40,000 for his breeder-owner Mr. Williams.

In the 1948 and '49 supplements to The Stud Book Margus was not listed as having foals. She evidently changed hands sometime prior to 1949. Her owner in the 1950 supplement was Mrs. Mary D. Mayo, who had bred her to Wrack Of Gold, a son of Cloth o'Gold—Wrackatell, by Runantell, which now stands in North Carolina at the Wonderland Farm of Stark S. Dillard, and was then owned by Mrs. Mayo. Margus' foal of 1950 was Mi-Marigold, which raced last year as a 2-year-old for Gallaher and Williams. She was a winner; her most notable effort being a 3rd in the first division of the Marguerite Stakes at Pimlico, won by Grecian Queen with Is Proud 2nd. Last year the partnership of Gallaher and Williams was dissolved and Mi-Marigold in her first start this year ran for Mr. Williams.

One of the most repeated and unfounded stories about yearling buyers is that they very seldom know what they are after. The above will disprove one of the most erroneous tales with which racing has to cope.—Easy Mark

Miss Mud's Filly

The Dwyer Stakes with Native Dancer more or less monopolized the afternoon of July 4 at Aqueduct but those seekers after gold at the end of the rainbow, found a little when they risked $2.00 on Miss Weesie in the Valkyr Handicap, directly after the big race had been staged. The word risked in this case is most suitable, as this filly was sent away at odds of better than 16 to 1, and she ran more like a 5 to 2 shot, returning $33.10.

The heroine of this little racing drama, a chestnut filly by Jeep-Miss Mud, by Mud, grabbed the lead from the gate, kept her head above that of Landmark at the ½ and ¼-mile markers, gave way to that Revoked filly at the furlong pole and then came again to snare a nose decision at the wire. However, in fairness to the Landmark it must be admitted she was conceding 14 pounds to the winner.

In winning this close one, Owner-Trainer T. F. White's filly defeated some top fillies such as J. C. Brady's Landmark, A. G. Vanderbilt's Home-Made, Companas Stable's Versify, J. H. Clark's Quiz Song and others of like cut.

Miss Weesie was bred by Mrs. E. B. Lee at White Post, Virginia, and is out of a mare by Mud, which to the uninformed was a bay horse by Madrigalian—*Landstock, by Land League. Miss Mud, a winner at 2 and 4, was a half-sister to the ill-fated young winning timber horse, Wardun.

The Valkyr Handicap brings Miss Weesie's earnings to $17,900 and gains her a great deal more respect.—Karl Koontz.

Gleam was the best three-year-old filly in the Calumet barn, while many Easterners were arguing that the same stable's Real Delight, another second-season female, was the best of her age in the country, regardless of sex.

This year, A Gleam had won but a single race up to the Milady; that was the Malibu Sequet Stakes at Santa Anita. Her most recent victory ran the winnings of the *Blenheim II—Twilight Tear filly up to $225,645.

On July 3, Rex Ellsworth entered two home-bred fillies in the Hollywood Lassie Stakes, for two-year-olds, and got part of the money with each. Chorus Khal was the winner, and a little over a neck back came Heather Kahl to earn third money. Black Gold Stable's Lady Cover Up split the two. The entry went at 65 to 100, and ran one-two right to the wire when Lady Cover Up shoved her nose in between.

Chorus Kahl is by *Khaled—Flitting Feet, by Flying Heels. She scored in the Nursery Stakes late in May and Heather Khal was third in that race, also. With the $17,400 Lassie purse, Chorus Khal has earned $27,550.

The American Handicap at Hollywood (July 4) scheduled a battle between two strong entries: Calumet's pair of A Gleam and Fleet Bird, and Alberta Ranches' Royal Serenade and Irish Hemp, both Irish-breds.

Royal Serenade is by Royal Charger, and, according to bloodstock authorities of his native land, should be ready to call it quits at the end of a mile. Late in June he won an overnight handicap at 1 1/16 miles, and proved that a mile and one-eighth is within his capabilities. The latest purse brought the five-year-old's American earnings to about $60,000. He was a winner in the British Isles before coming here.

to disqualify both the winner as well as the 3rd horse in a case of this sort.

On Monday, Brookmeade Stable's The Medium won a claiming race at the mile and a half distance, by virtue of the worst start that George Cassidy has made in a long time. *Rallywood, a first time starter at the big tracks after his two seasons of campaigning at the hunt meetings, gave the assistant starters a bad time, and while this was going on half the field got off to a false start. Recalled by the starter, the field of 9 were milling around when Cassidy dropped his flag without any semblance of a line. The Medium and Fleur de Joie got off winging, perhaps as much as 25 lengths separating them from the last one or two. With Jockey E. Carter in the saddle, he kept The Medium to his business all the way, was never worse than half a length on top of the others and won by a length and a half. Louis Merryman, Jr.'s Meadow Mint, making his first start on the big time, got off poorly, then closed very well to gain the runner-up position, half a length in front of Fleur de Joie. The latter was bothered to some extent in the running, but had no trouble in beating the remainder of the field, most of which had lost their chance at the start.

Trainer J. V. H. Davis, who has had quite a few winners over hurdles this season, added another victory to his list on Friday, when Happy Hill Farm's Knocks Twice, absent from the winner's circle for about 2 years, cavorted home some 8 lengths on top of Blue Plate. Jockey C. Harr let the Some Chance gelding settle into his stride, then went to the top down the far side, and never let the issue be a question. Blue Plate, away from the races for about 2 years, made this, his second start of the season, an improved performance, and was clearly the best of the others. Curly Joe and Old Shoe shared the minor money awards in that order, after First Dare and Rule of Thumb, the early pace-makers quit.

Littauer Articles

Dear Sir:

The articles by Captain Vladimir Littauer which have appeared in The Chronicle have been extremely enlightening, particularly to members of the Millwood Hunt who know him as a friend and advisor.

Our first encounter with Captain Littauer was last September when he was invited to spend three days with us to give a course of instruction to Millwood horses and riders. Last week, after he had completed an exhausting six day course at the N. S. W. A. Instructors' Rating and Training Center held in Wellesley, Mass., we persuaded him to return to our Club for two more days.

Quite frankly, several members of our Hunt, myself included, looked forward to Captain Littauer's original visit with our tongues in our cheeks. We accepted him as one of the leading exponents of forward riding in the United States, but doubted very seriously if he could do much to change those of us who had spent a lifetime in the hunting field. Furthermore, we were reluctant to submit ourselves to the humiliating prospect of being corrected as if we were rank beginners. After all, we had no ambition to ride in the Olympic Games. We merely wanted to hack and hunt pleasantly.

Why, then, have him at all? Because Millwood—like so many other hunts—is intensely interested in encouraging and helping young and/or new riders and horses. If the Captain's presence could establish confidence in the young riders or could develop their enthusiasm for hunting, then a number of our more experienced members were willing to offer themselves up as guinea pigs for his probable scathing criticism.

Happily we were wrong. Very wrong. Captain Littauer proved to be a completely fascinating, amusing and understanding man. He did exactly what we had hoped he would do. In a few days time—with morning and afternoon sessions on horseback and evening lectures and movies—he inspired our young riders with confidence in their own ability, with desire to establish more complete rapport with their horses, and with knowledge that they had achieved new and better control. But even more important, with infinite tact and patience—and almost without our realising what he was doing—Captain Littauer found the particular points where each of us individually needed help, and analysed the problems of each individual horse. Far from being merely a critic of every deviation from his own method of riding and schooling, he found virtues as well as faults, and though we have experienced the greater control—and consequent pleasure—given us by extended knowledge, understanding and use of the advanced aids suggested by him, were interested in the fact that the Captain knew when to "throw the book away" if it in any way lessened sympathy between rider and horse.

We certainly lay no claims to being top-notch horsemen, but we do know we are better riders today for having had the benefit of Captain Littauer's personal advice. We can see it in each other. We have more secure seats and we are better able to achieve calm, quiet performances from our horses. Furthermore, we have received concrete advice on how to correct various established habits in mature horses and how to school young horses tactfully so that they will consistently give us calm and pleasant rides to hounds.

Sounds as if Captain Littauer was a busy man during those few days he spent with us last fall and this summer! He was! And we hope that he will make it his business to return to the Millwood Hunt often. He is always welcome here. Also welcome are his articles in The Chronicle. May we have more of them?

Information Wanted

Dear Sir:

I note with much interest the article on Page 14 of the June 26 issue of The Chronicle relating to the Tewksbury Foot Bassets by Morgan Wing, Jr., and particularly the reference by the author to the "Basset Hound Club of America."

As I am a breeder of Bassets, I would be deeply appreciative if you will be so kind as to advise me how to contact the Basset Hound Club with a view to securing further information regarding the standards established by the Basset Hound Club.

Sincerely yours,

Mrs. Michael J. Hanlon

Philadelphia National

Dear Sir:

Some time ago I wrote you stating that the Philadelphia National Horse Show would not be held in 1953, but we would hold the show in 1954, with a worthy charity as beneficiary.

I would like you to correct the impression created by your article in the June 26th edition. The Philadelphia National Horse Show made a substantial profit each year for the Fairmount Park Pension Fund. It is being discontinued because of dissension among the Park Guards.

The Philadelphia National Horse Show Ass'n. is now being incorporated and will hold a show in 1954, for a beneficiary to be announced later. The show is also acquiring new grounds.

Sincerely yours

I would appreciate it very much if you would make the correction.

THE KIRBY HOUNDS

Lowry Watkins, watching his veteran campaigner Tourist List run a close second in the Indian River Steeplechase Handicap at Delaware Park on July 3, told the following story which is of particular interest to hound breeders. Back in the 20's, when Mr. Watkins was a regular follower of Joseph B. Thomas' pack, the latter wanted an outcross for the Virginia hounds which he had bred from the Bywaters and other Rappahannock county strains. Watkins suggested that he have a look at the pack of Joe S. Kirby near Bowling Green, Kentucky. Kirby grew tobacco for a living, but all his spare time (and money) were spent on his hounds. They were descended from the famous "Irish dogs", Mountain and Muse, imported into Maryland about 1814, and from the great July '59, another Maryland hound, which also traced back to Mountain. Mrs. Kirby kept the records in impeccable fashion.

They waited for Kirby in a barn, one end of which had been made into a kennel by means of a wire fence about 8 feet high. Presently Kirby came in with his hounds, which had hunted hard all day. As they talked his top hound, which had refused to come in with the others, trotted in. Disdaining the kennel door, he jumped the 8 foot fence and settled down in his own particular place on the bench.

Thomas promptly offered $500 for the hound and, when Kirby refused, raised his offer. "Mr. Thomas", said Kirby, "don't offer me any more money for that dog; my wife might hear about it." Thomas did not get the hound, but he did buy a dog and a bitch, Mountain '25 and Twilight '25 which appear in the pedigrees of Essex Trueboy '33, Foxcatcher Traveller '33, Foxcatcher Meddler '40 and, through them, in many lines of the Orange County pack as well.

ARLINGTON PARK VISITOR

Amory L. Haskell, President of United Hunts and Monmouth Park, attended The Arlington Park Hurdle Stakes on June 26 as the special guest of the committee. The luncheon, held in The Post and Paddock Club, at which he was guest of honor, was so well attended by enthusiastic midwest hunt racing enthusiasts that The Post and Paddock's supply of lapel buttons was exhausted. However, everybody was royally taken care of gastronomically—Mr. Haskell served in the capacity of Special Steward for The Arlington Stakes and made the trophy presentation—The mutuel pool was up this year over the two previous years and there seems to be little doubt that the popular hurdle event will be an annual fixture.

TECUMSEK FIRE

In the early morning of June 28 a spectacular fire completely destroyed the stables of the Tecumsek Riding Club in Jamesville, N. Y. The stables were owned by Russell Fout. Fortunately all 19 horses were saved, thanks to the quick thinking and calmness of Mr. Fout who led all the animals to safety himself.—The Fencer.

Nathaniel T. Clark, former Master of Norfolk Hunt, Medfield, Mass., who was reelected to succeed Mrs. Sherwin C. Badger for the 1952-'53 season, did a first rate job of announcing at the recent Dedham Show.

AIR FORCE VETERINARY CHIEF

The head of the veterinary service for the Air Force has been appointed temporary brigadier general. General Wayne O. Kester, USAF (VC) has directed the veterinary service for the Air Force since its independent establishment in 1949. He has long been a member of the American Horse Show Association, the Association of Maryland Horse Shows and the Virginia Horse Show Association. He is a former director of the latter organization and is a well known horse show judge in the eastern circuit.

TRAVELLERS ABROAD

Miss Molly McIntosh made a quick trip back to Warrenton, Va. from Gates Mills, where she and Miss Ellie Wood Keith judged the Chagrin Valley Hunt Club Junior Horse Show. Her sister,

Joan, who has recently returned from a year's stay in Italy, came a cropper with her appendix and Molly wanted to see how she fared before leaving for Europe. With the situation well in hand, the young horsewoman left July 1 for Europe. The Gilbert Humphreys of Gates Mills, Ohio are also joining the European trek. They left July 10 for a stay in France.—M. ARTIST IN CANADA

At ease, but busy at his easel and comfortably ensconced at the Eglington Hunt Club you will find "Broadie", W. Smithson Broadhead, the well-known British artist who has deserted his adopted Virginia to spend the summer in Canada doing horse portraits for several Canadian sportsmen, including E. P. Taylor, owner of Canadiana, winner of the Queen's Plate. All we can add is "Bless the Canadians if they have a hunt ball—bosom shirts and all that—and "Broadie" has a crayon handy."

TRAVELLING SPORTSMAN

Col. Rex Benson, pre-war British polo internationalist and steeplechase rider, had as his guests at the semi-finals of the Coronation International Polo Matches at Cowdray Park Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pew, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. William Hunneman, Jr. of the Philadelphia countryside. Sad to say, the United States Team went down before the onslaught of the Argentinians.

Col Benson will be remembered by his host of friends over here for not only his polo, but his rides on that great 'chaser, Thornbrack, which he successfully brought from English steeplechasing to United States timber-racing.

Col. Benson, now an international banker, has become a trans-Atlantic commuter and still succeeds in mixing pleasure with business. An annual jaunt takes him to Texas and Mexico for shooting and then on to Virginia to rest?

WALTER WOODS

Walter Woods, aged 70, died at the St. Jerome Hospital on June 26 after an illness of three weeks. He had been in charge of the Vernon G. Cardy horses for the past 15 years and was one of the best known Canadian figures around the American horse shows. Before coming to Montreal, he was carriage agent for many years at the King Edward Hotel in Toronto.

RIDER HURT

Miss Dorothy Craig, who rides the Ballantrae hunters, had a severe fall at the recent Culpeper (Va.) Horse Show. Riding General Patton, Miss Craig jumped the brush out of the ring but at the next jump in the outside course, General Patton literally stood on his head. The young rider suffered a severe cut above her eye and was taken to the hospital.—M. H.

NEW MEMBERS

The No Knockers Club, established during the Devon Horse Show, was recruiting new members at the Fairfield County Horse Show. Among the new names added to the list were Miss Blanche Clark, the Emerson Burrs and Photographer Marshall Hawkins. It was not made public the financial statement of the organization but all income will be divulged later on in the fall.—M. H.

Artist Recognized As A Master of English School Of Landscape Painting

Although Lionel Edwards has made his reputation as a painter of horses and hunting, he is equally entitled to recognition as one of the great masters of the English School of landscape painting. The school had its beginnings back in the 18th century with Thomas Gainsborough, who was continually straining to get away from his fashionable sitters for portraits in London and out into the country "to paint landscape." It reached its greatest heights with Constable, a generation later. Edwards paints squarely within the school and according to its best traditions. The reason why his hunting scenes have such particular appeal, greater in this particular field than even Munnings, is that they recreate the setting of a great hunt just as successfully as they recreate the principal characters taking part in it.

Our cover picture shows a group of yearlings, possibly destined for the Doncaster auction sales, which have been just released for grass and exercise. All the exuberance of their new-found liberty, the verdant carpet of green, the brilliant effects of cloud and light are here on canvas. It is a picture to gladden the heart of the horse breeder and to satisfy the most exacting art critic.

NOTES FROM DELAWARE

Seen in the Turf and Field Club at Delaware Park on "Indian River" day (July 3) were Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, escorted by the Rolling Plains Stable partners, Mrs. Joseph Walker and Mrs. John Hannum, M. F. H. of Mr. Stewart's Cheshire Foxhounds. Mr. and Mrs. James Sinkler were hosts at a luncheon which included Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mather Jr.; the latter's Cub Hunt was a starter in a 2-year-old claiming race, but pulled up with bucked shins.

Mrs. Edward S. Moore had the pleasure of seeing her War Doings win The Washington, an allowance race for 2-year-olds, from a good field which included Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' home bred Gander (by Pavot—Snow Goose) and Mrs. E. duPont Weir's Cobbler's Bench, the owners of both being also on hand.

Mrs. Weir ran Royal Governor, which at 9-years-old seems to be making a successful comeback, in a race which the management, apparently after considerable cogitation named the Nayrb Dleif. Evidently this event was run as a back-handed compliment to Vice President and General Manager Bryan Field; anyway they spelled his name backwards. Mrs. Weir warned her friends beforehand that the heavy track would probably not be to Royal Governor's liking. Her prediction proved correct for after the first turn the old horse quite plainly registered his disapproval and cantered the rest of the way in leisurely fashion.

Among the steeplechase enthusiasts seen in the paddock before and after the running of the Indian River Steeplechase Handicap at Delaware Park on July 3 were Mrs. Marion duPont

Miss Sue Willis (left) of Northbrook, Ill., was the reserve equitation champion and Miss Sara Boyd of Bradford, Conn., the champion at the interschool riding meet held at Dana Hall, Wellesley, Mass.

Scott; Lowry Watkins (whose Tourist List ran second); James McHugh, purchaser of the steeplechaser Sundowner last month at the McKinney sales for $25,000; Richard I. Robinson, former M. F. H. of the Fairfield and Westchester; Joseph Murtagh, M. F. H. of the West Chester Hunt; Mr. and Mrs. Cortright Wetherill, their house guest Mrs. Forester, and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Scott, Jr.

Kent Miller, owner and trainer of Elkridge, has made a specialty of the Indian River Steeplechase Handicap, the pair having won the event no less than five times since it was inaugurated in 1938. This year, Elkridge having been retired to lead pony duties, he had a 6th try as the trainer of Lowry Watkins' Tourist List, now 12 years old. The plan is to run the old horse's earnings up to $100,000. Mr. Watkins says that the figures given by the Racing Manual, the Steeplechase Annual and the Blood Horse all differ, but that about $97,000 represents the consensus of opinion.

Kent Miller is still hobbling about with a cane, due to a broken pelvis, but during the race it looked as though he had completely recovered in a hurry. Tourist List jumped magnificently, making only one slight bobble, and gaining at every fence. At the finish line he was a very close second. Since his share of the purse was $2,000, however, it looks as though he would be seen under silks soon again.

OAK BROOK

A private world war 4 was declared at Oak Brook....Firemen versus Exhibitors....Reason: Firemen refused to allow exhibitors to sit in certain vacant sanctums....firemen were only doing their duty....but then...without exhibitors, without show. Well, a large body of irate exhibitors fumed and gentlemen threatened, but ladies took matters into their own hands, as ladies will. That evening there came a party and the fire chief attended. He had a wheeeee of a time and so did the ladies. Next day, all was quiet on the battlefield, exhibitors lolling everywhere, fire chief was late on the job and when he did put in his belated appearance he had retired behind dark glasses. He smiled sheepishly, ladies smiled gleefully, husbands shook their wise heads and peace was declared at Oak Brook. Then there were those masculine exhibitors seated in a box, who were most interested in exhibiting several prospective model two legged fillies in the "Model Class"....L. B. C.

WON CORINTHIAN

At the Devon Horse Show this year Robert Motch rode Millarden Farms' Borealis to capture the blue in the corinthian class. Borealis was entered at the Grosse Pointe (Mich.) Horse Show but his corinthian rider was getting married to Miss Sally Busch in St. Louis on June 17. Came time for the class at Grosse Pointe and the jock arrived just in time. Harry Williams' Millarden Farms' tackroom now sports another blue ribbon.

... not for one year, either

Bay colt by Black Tarquin
—Seaway, by Man o'War

This yearling could be the "big" horse in any stable when the 3-year-old classics roll around in a couple of years . . . and after a good 2-year-old season, too! His pedigree is a case of breeding the best to the best—the stuff that champions come from. Black Tarquin was one of England's top three 2-year-olds, was the best 3-year-old, and best horse in Europe at 1¼ and up to 2 miles at 4. The yearling is out of Seaway, by Man o'War. Seaway is the dam of the very fast Ol' Skipper, winner of about $50,000, including George Woolfe Memorial, also won at five furlongs in :58 1/5. Seaway's first four foals—this is her fifth—have all been good winners. The next three dams won stakes, produced stakes winners.
